HOUSE JOURNAL

SESSION 1951

FIRST DAY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, January 3, 1951

Be it remembered that the Constitution of the State of North Carolina fixes the date for the meeting of the General Assembly of North Carolina as being on the Wednesday after the first Monday in January, biennially, the date for this meeting being January 3, 1951.

This day, in compliance with the provisions of the Constitution, the members-elect of the House of Representatives assemble in their Hall in the City of Raleigh and at twelve o'clock noon, in accordance with the statutes, are called to order by Honorable Thad Eure, Secretary of State.

Prayer is offered by Lay-leader James R. Butler, Manager of Chamber of Commerce of Goldsboro, North Carolina.

The roll is called and the following members-elect answer to their names, appear with the proper certificates of election, take and subscribe to the following prescribed oath of office, which is administered by Associate Justice M. V. Barnhill of the Supreme Court of North Carolina.

"Do you, each for yourself, solemnly swear that you will support the Constitution of the United States; and do you solemnly and sincerely swear that you will be faithful and bear true allegiance to the State of North Carolina, and to the constitutional powers and authorities which are or may be established for the government thereof; and that you will endeavor to support, maintain, and defend the Constitution of said State, not inconsistent with the Constitution of the United States, to the best of your knowledge and ability; and do you further solemnly swear that you will faithfully discharge your duties as members of the House of Representatives of the State of North Carolina according to the best of your skill and ability and according to law, so help you, God?"

The Joint Committee of the House and Senate comes into the Hall of the House acting as escort to Governor Scott who makes his address to the Joint Assembly, as follows:

BIENNIAL MESSAGE
OF
GOVERNOR W. KERR SCOTT
TO THE
NORTH CAROLINA GENERAL ASSEMBLY

THURSDAY, JANUARY 4, 1951

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and Members of the General Assembly:

We are assembled here in a period of national emergency to plan the course of our State for the two years immediately ahead. Although we pray for the secure establishment of peace, we must support without stint our country's purpose to be prepared for any eventuality. All the plans we make here must be subject to revision as we fit ourselves into the national defense program.

Many of you were members of the 1949 Legislature when I began my service as Governor. All of you come fresh from the people with information about their needs and desires. I reaffirm my consciousnes of our partnership in responsibility for the State Government. If the State were a private corporation, the Governor would be its Business Manager and you its Board of Directors. Mine is the duty to recommend policy and to carry it out. Yours is the duty to determine very largely what that policy shall be.

The uncertainties of the times suggest more frequent examination of fundamental principles. I find myself inclined to scrutinize my own more earnestly at the halfway post in my four years as Governor. There is a great ferment in the world of 1950-51. People are restless, governments are growling at one another, and dessension is very general inside our own country. We have come to the end of the first half of the 20th century. During this period we have mastered many obstacles in the physical realm, but we have made less apparent progress in the spiritual realm. We seem to have less confidence in ourselves and in our neighbors now than existed in the beginning of these eventful fifty years. Material successes have not conquered fear. Deep concern about how human society is to be safely ordered is manifest everywhere in our country.

These general conditions must affect us profoundly as we go about our work here. We will be influenced by them, but we should not permit them to confuse us or to divert us unnecessarily from our course in the State. One of our principal responsibilities is to remain strong at home. We must not neglect it.

As I come before you to discuss my stewardship for the past two years and to advise with you about the second half of my term of office, I think that it is not out of order to say something about my own creed—the fundamental principles which have been guiding me—and to which I turn frequently in self-examination.

I believe that the proper objective of our country is preservation of freedom under God, and that our State must be ready to support this objective at all costs.

I believe that although the present world unrest is extremely dangerous to us, testing both our faith and our statesmanship, it can prove to be the travail of a better society.

I believe that we must start at home when we want to build a better world; and although some of our plans for North Carolina may be affected temporarily by the general emergency, we must be firm in our purpose to continue improvement of public service.

I believe in the high quality of the natural values of our State; that both people and material resources are worthy of great investment.

I believe that the North Carolina of 1950 with more than four million inhabitants will be a State of eight million or more by 1980, and that we should plan with such probable increase in mind.

I believe that proper management of this State to provide a good life for its present and prospective population demands not only the improvement of schools and roads, ports and other conventional facilities, but also the scientific development of every large river drainage area we have.

These are articles of my own faith. I have tried to chart a course in the light of these beliefs. When I asked the people to give me the responsibility of the Governorship, I discussed a specific program. I advocated the extension of our road system to form a state-wide chain of paved secondary highways. I promised to strengthen our public school system. I advocated that the financial reserves that had accumulated and were lying without interest in the banks be put to work for service of the people.

I thought I knew how the people felt about these things. I was not surprised when, in the road bond election, they placed the value of these roads above the amount of money required to build them. The people believed, as I believe, that an investment in North Carolina is a wise investment. The people believed, as I believe, that no better investment could be made through extension of public service calculated to develop and market the creative potential of all our people.

As the practical effect of this go-forward program is felt, I am hearing more and more from the people that they like it. This administration is carrying out a program of progress under direct mandate from the people. Every effort to impeach it has failed and will fail.

For a long time the people had been telling me their needs. The Legislature of 1949 recognized the merit in the contention that public service should be improved to the extent of our reasonable capacity, and it authorized the program. Also, during the first two years of this administration, I have enjoyed close cooperation with our delegation in Congress. On several occasions I have gone to Washington to discuss our problems face-to face with our Senators and Representatives, and to seek their counsel and assistance. Therefore, what has occurred has been the result of the cooperation of the people and their lawmakers with the Governor.

I will discuss certain particular areas of progress as I proceed, but at this time I want to make special reference to one of the practical points in my creed.

I refer to efforts I have made to enlist the help of the Federal Government in river valley development in this State. I want to be as emphatic with you as possible in asserting the importance of the surface water of North Carolina. It can be destructive, or it can be magnificently constructive—dependent upon how we manage it. For generations our rivers have been wasting the physical State into the Atlantic as our top soil has washed away. We are beginning to stop this great drain on our resources with improved methods of erosion control, but we have not yet planned to make the most of our water potential.

I have been charged with a socialistic attack on private enterprise because I dared to invite the attention of a department of the Federal Government to our needs in connection with multiple-use dams for our rivers. Resourceful propagandists have accused me of a desire to block private development of the rivers and to misinterpret the conditions with respect to the power production and other derivatives to be expected from water resource control.

I believe in free enterprise. I have great faith in the power of its drive against incompetence and error, but I believe also that there are some areas of development and conservation of our natural resources in which the people dare not leave the whole responsibility to private enterprises. A comprehensive program for the protection and development of our surface waters in this State falls in that area. As I ask this Legislature to consider favorably moderate protective legislation concerning our waters, I point to the fact that valuable rivers in highly industrialized states are dead rivers today as a consequence of dependence on the private corporation to protect them while in competitive pursuit of dividends. At this time when great industries are turning more and more to the waterways of this State for location of plants, I recommend that we adopt a water-use policy with a view to being hospitable to such enterprise, but also to protecting all the people's interests in these streams.

More particularly to the point of multiple-use dams, I want to say that I regard electric power development from them as little more than a rich by-product, and that I am in favor of that product being marketed not by the Government, but by private utilities, municipal corporations, and rural electric cooperatives. I am insisting and shall continue to insist: First, that "enough" electric energy is not sufficient for this State—we need an abundance of power—and secondly, that the protection of these waters, and their development for their full value for the people of North Carolina, must not be left entirely to the private utility corporations.

When I say that "enough" power is not sufficient, I am thinking of the constructive challenge of excess power to the private business enterprise looking for location. I have in mind that even now TVA is being called on to double its power production to meet immediately prospective needs.

I am dwelling upon this matter because I do not want the vital issue of water-resource development in this State to be confused by controversy as to the extent of my personal faith in private enterprise. I see no inconsistency in depending upon private enterprise for its mighty contribution to our economy, and at the same time asking that North Carolina be given even-handed treatment in the highly significant river basin development plans that are being financed by the Federal Government.

Something has been said by way of criticism of this administration that I have encouraged the State to assume an unprecedented debt burden. I am charged with having allocated or spent accumulated reserves in excess of $200 million. I am charged with having gone far with the expenditure of $225 million of borrowed money in the past two years. I did advise the people of the State to authorize in an election the borrowing of $225 million and to procure its prompt use. I also urged the Legislature to convert tax accumulations largely into service institutions for the people. In my campaign for the Gorvernorship, I charged that nearly $200 million lying unused in the banks of this State represented a failure of visions as to the people's needs. I campaigned upon the proposition that tax money should be converted to public service. I contended that such portions of it as remained unspent during the conversion should draw interest. I report to you now that not only did your predecessor, the Legislature of 1949, support this position by making appropriations converting the reserves into services—that the people went to the polls and authorized the debt of $225 million I advocated—but also that the Treasurer of this State has been handling the State's balances so capably that he has proved that my charges of loss due to tax monies being left without interest in banks really were very conservative.

I affirm here my belief in a proper balance between income and expenditure in operating the State Government. I contended two years ago that North Carolina did not have a true $200 million surplus, but that it was keeping that amount of money in banks at the expense of a great deficit in public service. The Legislature's examination of the State's needs confirmed this. As to the charge that our $200 million road bond debt constitutes the heaviest burden of debt this State has borne, I point out to you that this burden is less than I conservatively estimated for the people that it would be. In my advocacy of the bond issue, I never promised that we would sell the bonds under an average interest rate of 1.75%. I used the conservative estimate of $7-½ million a year new income from the 1c gasoline tax. We have sold 125 million of these bonds at rates that average approximately 1.50%. The income from the 1c gasoline tax is more than eight and one-half million for its first year. So, the actual burden of this debt—in terms of interest charges and funds available from the tax levy to begin paying it off—is far less than the burden of the $115 million of original road bonds which this State marketed at an average of about 5 percent. The interest on $100 million at 5 percent is $5 million a year. The interest on $200 million at 1.5% is only $3 million a year. If our judgment was right that the people were entitled to these new secondary roads, and that they and their energies would make the investment pay, I believe that the same kind of confidence in the character of the securities shown by the buyers of the bonds is justified among the people of the State itself.

The courageous development of North Carolina through use of the power of the State Government did not begin with my administration. It will not end with it. We have been fortunate in having governors and legislators who had faith in the people of this State and in the State's resources. What I want to advocate strongly to you now is that there be no halting of the advance—that we move steadily forward, building by plan and with confidence in the future.

I am proposing consolidation of the advance we have made, but not that we dig in for stoppage of the advance. I am urging as strongly as I can that you look forward with courage and confidence to the returns to be expected from daring investment in building up our State. It is my recommendation that you study our tax laws with the view toward removing inequities in the interest both of fairness and of obtaining increased revenue necessary to carry on essential public service. I ask your help in further strengthening the collection of taxes. While we have sought to reduce the waste in government and can specify accomplishments of merit in that area, we have striven to close the loopholes through which justly due taxes were escaping. The figures indicating success speak for themselves and they will be laid before you.

I believe in a balanced budget, but I believe also that it is as important to balance the State's budget of social and economic needs as it is to balance its income and expense account. Let us strive to avoid the costly deficits that imperil the well-being of our people and defeat their cultural and economic growth. We must not bury the people's talents.

We are investing large sums, but we are getting full dollar's worth for our money in building and service. At the same time, we are reducing petty wastes in government. We must work together to keep our progress free of inefficiency and waste. To this end, I invite suggestions from the members of this Legislature, and from any citizen of our State at any time.

I turn now to a brief topical report of progress and of need.

Civil Defense—Our nation is no longer free from the threat and danger of sudden attack. War may involve all in its hazards. An effective civil defense program is vital to our security.

Shortly before the outbreak of the Korean conflict, at the request of the Federal Government, I appointed a Civil Defense Council under the authority of the North Carolina Emergency War Powers Act. Later, a full-time director was appointed and funds appropriated from the Contingency and Emergency Fund to operate this agency until ten days after the convening of the 1951 General Asembly.

To continue our present program and achieve effective civil defense will require legislation. The legislation needed has been drafted by the State Civil Defense Council. I urge you to give it immediate consideration.

Roads—We have emphasized better roads as one of the most important goals of this Administration. I am glad to report the attainment of what I regard as great progress. The State Highway Commission has completed slightly more than 45 percent of the $200 million dollar secondary road paving program outlined as an objective 24 months ago. Nearly 6,000 miles of new hard-surfacing have been added to the State's secondary road system. The remainder of the program—plus extensive stabilization mileage—should be completed within the next two years unless work is interrupted. When it is completed, a network of farm-to-market and farm-to-school roads will extend into every section of North Carolina.

The road bonds sold up to this time—$125 million dollars worth—have been selling to bear very low interest rates, and the income earmarked for their retirement is exceeding estimates. Earlier this week the first six million dollars worth were retired. Indications are that other repayments will be made without drawing on regular highway income. This is contingent, of course, on continuation of current traffic volume.

The per-mile cost of our new roads has been considerably under original estimates. If this trend continues, more miles of road will be built than were first planned. The mileage built has been constructed to standards calculated to render excellent service for many years with reasonable maintenance cost. We have not skimped on construction. The best engineering practices of the Highway Commission have been employed in the construction of these secondary roads. Quality has not been sacrificed for mileage.

Furthermore, the State Highway Commission has initiated and finished more work on the primary highway system during the past two years than in any other period in our road-building history. The freeing of regular highway income from demands of rural road improvements has made it possible to concentrate these funds on the primary system. All surplus funds accumulated during this administration have been earmarked for major projects on our main highways.

To give you some idea of how much the Highway Commission has stepped up its pace of roadbuilding, I quote these comparative figures: During 1950 the Commission let $58 million dollars worth of highway projects to contract compared with $24 million in 1949 and $25 million in 1948. In addition, an estimated $35 million was spent by the Commission on force account work during 1950 including paving and stabilization. These figures apply to work both on primary and secondary roads.

Looking to the future, I must voice a warning concerning the general needs of our highway system. Traffic has increased so rapidly as to make it necessary to revise plans in designing new highways. In the interest of safety and convenience, we must think in terms of heavy traffic highways, by-passes, underpasses, overpasses, and other expensive items of highway construction. More than 300 major bridges are obsolete. This means that our regular highway income ought not to be spread out too thin. If we have new road needs, we must make new provisions for financing them.

I say this in connection with the report submitted to this General Assembly by the State-Municipal Roads Commission with the assistance of the Institute of Government and other agencies. I agree with the general principle set forth in this report. I also agree with the Commission's conclusion that new sources of revenue should be found if the State is to assume additional responsibilities for city streets. It would not be wise to put this additional responsibility on the Highway Commission—as the county roads were in 1931—without providing new revenue sources. North Carolina's problem is but part of a national problem. We have already accomplished more than we promised, but we have not solved the road problem.

Public Education—We met courageously a crisis of first importance in the State's schools two years ago. A legislative majority increased teacher's pay in an effort to stop the disintegration of the teacher force and lift its morale. We did not succeed in establishing the teacher on the secure professional level he should occupy, but we made an advance towards that objective. We should now consolidate the advance made on a contingency basis two years ago, and I urge that the teacher salary schedule of $2,200 to $3,100 be provided along with increments fairly designed to hold highly qualified individuals in the service.

The State is devoting $50,000,000 to a public school building program, and the local school districts have voted $66,000,000 more during the two-year period for this purpose. We are improving greatly the functional value of these new buildings by employing improved architectural plans. We are leading the nation in school building design. We must not fail our children by entrusting their education to underpaid, disspirited teachers.

Study of individual cases involving failure to pass Selective Service mental tests, almost without exception, has shown that the individual had a history of irregular class attendance in his public school career. This points to the urgency of a strengthened compulsory school attendance law. Present legislation on this subject was enacted in 1913 and seems to be inadequate. I urge your study of the need of new law.

Health—Two years ago, in my inaugural address, I said that Selective Service physical examinations emphasized the importance of improving our general health program. Today, Selective Service has been reactivated and rejections are still too numerous.

We have made progress, but there are still serious deficiencies in hospital facilities for the people, particularly in those counties and areas least able to finance a hospital building fund. It is in these poorer counties that the need is most urgent, and we should re-examine our program to determine how best to deal with this problem. There are seventeen North Carolina counties totally without hospital facilities.

I urge the General Assembly to study and appraise the possibility of equalizing health service for the people, regardless of the particular county in which they live, as has been done in education and highways.

Four years ago North Carolina embarked upon a program of expansion of hospital facilities for the treatment of citizens suffering from tuberculosis. A total of 462 additional beds have been added at the State's three tubercular sanitariums. Another 222 beds will become available when projects now under contract are finished. With completion of the 100-bed tubercular wing at Chapel Hill, the long waiting list of patients seeking admission to our tubercular institutions should be eliminated.

Our hospitals for the mentally sick must be improved and staffed with properly trained personnel. It is my earnest hope that the 1951 General Assembly will take action to reduce the deficit of service in this field. It is my firm conviction that through the establishment and operation of a psychiatric wing at Chapel Hill, much will be accomplished in the service to the mentally ill. Such a wing, in addition to the many other benefits which would come from it, would provide a training center for personnel staff and state mental institutions. The lack of such trained personnel is a serious problem.

In the field of preventive medicine the State Board of Health is making outstanding progress. Twenty-five years ago the chief killing diseases in North Carolina were the infectious diseases—but last year the five leading killers were in the non-infectious group. This demonstrates the continuing effectiveness of our preventive medicine program and the wisdom of maintaining this service to the people at a high level.

Public Welfare—With a public welfare program which is providing financial assistance and other welfare services to approximately 150,000 of the men, women, and children of the State each month, the State has accepted heavy responsibility.

Our humanitarian programs must be such as to insure that minimum subsistence needs are provided for those who through old age, disability, or the dependence of childhood are unable to provide the necessities of daily living for themselves. Rising costs affect this group even more severely than other economic groups. Moreover, because of the growing proportions of older people in our State and rising caseloads due to economic difficulties, it has not been possible to reach the level of average monthly grants, namely $24 dollars for needy aged persons and $18 dollars per dependent child, which were set by the 1949 General Assembly. Therefore, the State Board of Public Welfare has submitted appropriations requests to meet the established level of State responsibility.

We are just now entering a new field of State participation in helping meet the needs of the totally and permanently disabled. Hitherto this needy group has been entirely dependent on county aid. Thus, we are broadening in this Administration the acceptance of responsibility by the State for the economic and social protection of its citizens. The several welfare grant programs for helping take care of as many of our needy people as possible in their own homes and in their own communities relieve some of the pressure upon the already overcrowded institutional facilities of the State. This policy has proved to be an economical plan for care of such persons and adds to their happiness and general well-being.

The Commission set up to study domestic relations laws, which studied legislation affecting children and families in the last two General Assemblies, has again been at work during the past biennium. We should give serious consideration to its current recommendations.

We have made substantial progress during this biennium in improving jails throughout the State through the active interest and cooperation of local officials with the State Board of Public Welfare. I recommend careful study of legislative proposals to strengthen the steps being taken by local governmental units to provide more effectively against abuse of their prisoners.

There are needs for certain permanent improvements in the Welfare program which I shall discuss in my Budget message.

Public Utilities—Gratifying progress has been made in the past two years in the extension of the benefits of electric energy to the people in our rural areas through the combined efforts of the REA, the municipalities, and the public utility companies. Electric power has now been taken to all but 32,844 North Carolina farms.

Despite the progress scored, too many of our people still are without the service. Areas, where farm power is not sufficiently available at reasonable rates, constitute a dead space in our economic structure. The low per capita income of these areas means not only a lower standard of living for the people living within them, but also higher taxes for the rest of the State's taxpayers.

Progress has also been made in telephone service expansion during the past two years. This expansion must be continued. The public interest demands that those utility companies which have been dragging their feet in North Carolina's March of Progress be required to get in step with the rest of the state.

To justify their position of privilege and freedom from competition, our public utilities corporations should provide the service to which the people are entitled and at a cost not in excess of that necessary to permit a fair and reasonable return on investment.

The people of North Carolina, through their General Assembly, have delegated to the Utilities Commission general regulatory and rate making powers in the public utility field. Many companies, particularly telephone companies, do not hold franchise certificates directly from the Utilities Commission and their service areas are vague and undefined.

I recommend that legislation be enacted requiring all public utilities to apply for formal franchise certificates from the State Utilities Commission. These franchise certificates should clearly and accurately define the geographical franchise area which the respective companies are privileged and obligated to serve. Such legislation will afford the necessary machinery whereby the Utilities Commission may perform its duty of securing better state-wide distribution of vital utility services.

Natural Resources—Development of deep water ports at Wilmington and Morehead City—made possible by a bond issue authorized by the 1949 Legislature—is stimulating development along our seaboard of large benefit to the national defense and to our economic future.

Preliminary surveys made by the Department of Conservation and Development indicate the possibility of locating a steel plant in the vicinity of the port of Wilmington. A survey already made by the special committee set up by the 1949 General Assembly indicates that raw materials are available for the production of cement. One of the largest manufacturers has evidenced interest in establishing a plant in the State to produce this essential commodity.

Our forests and our surface water resources are very great, but we are neglecting these to the ultimate danger to industrial development and land use. I re-state that I favor flood control over all major streams and where feasible complete basin development. This calls for multipurpose dams, which are not likely to become the concern of private companies engaged only in the business of generating and marketing power. These multipurpose dams are properly the concern of government as has been successfully demonstrated in other areas. Power generated by government dams should, I believe, be distributed through existing agencies; such as municipalities, cooperatives, and public utilities. Private utilities distributing this government-generated current are under the regulation of the State Utilities Commission, which can require performance dictated by the public interest. Municipal and cooperative systems are owned and operated by the people they serve.

Not only should our streams be dammed for flood control and for production of electric power, but we need also to take positive steps to curb stream pollution that impairs the usefulness of our streams, and is a growing health hazard. Legislation to deal effectively with this basic State problem constitutes one of the challenges before this Assembly. I urge your attention to it as a matter of prime importance.

North Carolina is the principal producer of mica and other minerals essential to defense production. Its commercial fishing resources are of tremendous value in the increased production of food, feed, and oil essential to the war economy. Recommendations to bring about more effective utilization of our natural resources will be offered by the Department of Conservation and Development.

Agriculture—Agriculture is one of the most important elements of our economy, and the welfare and prosperity of our farmers is a matter of concern to all of us.

Thanks to a fine tobacco crop and record high prices, our receipts from the sale of farm products have been considerably higher during the past year than expected. The recession in farm income that was well under way a year ago has since been offset by a general upturn in demand and prices.

Unfortunately, however, our cotton farmers have suffered two poor crop years; and their production this past season was the smallest since reconstruction days. As a result, many farmers who still cling to cotton as their principal crop now find themselves in dire circumstances. But we, as a State, face a challenge to produce more cotton in our defense effort.

Our farmers generally have made remarkable progress in soil conservation, pasture improvement, expansion of livestock and poultry production, general diversification, and better living conditions. Our production potential in agriculture is at an all-time high, and I feel that North Carolina farmers are in even better position now to meet the stepped-up demands of wartime conditions than they were in the early days of World War II.

I should like to point out that our achievements in agriculture have not occurred through chance development.

I feel that every dollar the State has spent to help the farmer has returned handsome dividends, and I strongly urge you to bear this in mind in considering the needs of agriculture for the future. A continued strong research program is essential. Programs now under way should be continued, with greater emphasis on livestock production and improved processing and marketing facilities for various farm products.

The new pattern of financing for the State Department of Agriculture, as approved by the last General Assembly, has worked well and simplified the problem of budget-making. There should be no question about continuing to treat this Department the same way we do other Departments in the State government. The old system of financing the functions of the Agriculture Department, many of which are non-agricultural, largely from inspection taxes is outmoded.

Commerce and Industry—Business prospers in North Carolina under efficient labor and progressive management.

We have achieved the transition from a largely agricultural economy to a position of balance between industry and agriculture. Our most spectacular progress has been made in industry during the past ten years. The value of our output during that period more than trebled, and we attained national leadership in textile, tobacco and wooden furniture manufacturing. Our non-agricultural employment is now in excess of 900,000 men and women—the highest in our history. But we have made only a good start towards our logical goal of production.

During the last year industry invested or earmarked more than 100 million dollars for new factories in North Carolina, and indications at this time are that even greater investments are under consideration for the year ahead.

Our new industries are well distributed geographically, with some of the largest entering the coastal plains. Improved deep water ports and prospects for procurement of natural gas greatly enhance our attraction for industry.

No state in the Union offers the safe decentralization combined with equal accessibility of markets, materials and labor that North Carolina does. The volume and diversity of new industries locating in the State in the last year testify to a new appreciation of that truth.

Labor and Management—Relations between North Carolina labor and management were peaceful and productive during the last two years. Ninety per cent labor-management disputes were settled without work stoppages. Actually, only 37 work stoppages occurred during the entire biennium. These involved 6,483 workers.

Despite the fact that our average industrial wage rose from $41.50 a week in October 1948 to $46.50 in October 1950, our wages are only about 75 percent of the national average of factory earnings. One of our greatest needs and most challenging jobs is to raise the level of our earnings—not just wages but per capita income as well. Assuming no critical break in our economy, the phenomenal growth of industry in the State during the last two years and the even greater expansions which lie ahead should bring greatly increased production, higher per capita income and, of course, larger State revenues which may be used wisely to make up some of our deficits in services to the people.

One reason for our low income level is the fact that we have a minority of workers in local service and retail trades who are paid wages of 50 cents an hour and less. Healthy citizenship cannot be sustained upon that kind of income.

A State minimum wage statute should be enacted to place a floor under the incomes of these low-paid workers who aren't covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law. This would place intra-State business in fair competitive status with other business while protecting a considerable labor force.

I recommend your examination of the Workmen's Compensation Law with a view to the need of upward revision of the scale of benefits. There has been no increase since original adoption of the scale.

Government Structure—The people approved in the November election an amendment to the Constitution transferring from the Governor's office to that of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court the responsibility for assignment of Superior Court judges.

When this judicial function originally was placed in the Executive Department, doubtless there was good reason for it, but under present conditions the transfer was logical. This might well suggest a study of further changes in structure and work-load in the interest of efficiency and economy.

Government is the biggest single business in our State. Its services have multiplied and must continue to expand to keep pace with the demands of some one system, I would recommend that we fashion our own system by it. But I know of no convincing case.

It is my belief that we have not matured our experience with the present set-up sufficiently to be sure it is not a good one when proper understanding and skill are infused into it. This is especially true in view of the economic and therapeutic importance of the work opportunity for prisoners provided by the expanding road system. Therefore, in confidence that we have erected new humanitarian safeguards, I recommend that you encourage sensible reforms now planned and leave the prison under the State Highway Commission for the present.

The question of finances I shall discuss in my Budget Message.

It is obvious that more money will be necessary to meet new and continuing needs, but I am hopeful that this can be accomplished in large measure by anticipated increase in revenues; by the removal of certain tax exemptions, and inequities and more uniform collections.

The program I have outlined is designed to keep North Carolina strong and to help make America stronger.

Our future population deserves more—much more—than is contemplated here. We cannot let needed services and facilities dam up, but we should do as much as possible each two years. Even at our utmost, it is a never-ending job in a growing state, and every dollar invested in permanent improvements creates new and continuing expenses of maintenance. But without these constant and continuing expenses, we can have no progress. Our civilization would stagnate. By keeping abreast of the needs of the people, we pace a vigorous and a growing state. We will be building a better North Carolina next year and for the years to come.

After the address, on motion of Senator Johnson, the Joint Assembly dissolves, the Senate stands adjourned and the House resumes consideration of business.

Committee Appointment

Mr. Speaker Taylor announces the appointment of the following members to the Committee on Elections and Election Laws:

Chairman: Brown of Jackson; Vice-Chairman: Uzzell; Blue, Brown of Watauga, Etheridge, Falls, Hardison, Love, Moore of Clay, Pou, Rodman, Spruill, Turner, White, Whitmire, Yarborough, Yates, Burleson (R), Ireland (R).

On motion of Mr. Gentry the House adjourns in honor of the memory of the Honorable J. M. Blevins of Ashe County, former member of the House of Representatives and will meet tomorrow at 12 o'clock noon.

THIRD DAY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, January 5, 1951

The House meets pursuant to adjournment and is called to order by Mr. Speaker Taylor.

Prayer is offered by the Reverend Alphonso Jordan, House Chaplain.

On motion of Mr. Whitley, the reading of the Journal of yesterday is dispensed with and the same stands approved as written.

Courtesies of the floor are extended to the Honorable Arch T. Allen of Wake County, former member of the House of Representatives.

HOUSE RESOLUTION

The following House Resolution is offered by Mr. Branch of Halifax and adopted by the House of Representatives.

A RESOLUTION REQUESTING HONORABLE THAD EURE, SECRETARY OF STATE, TO CONDUCT A LEGISLATIVE SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION FOR NEW MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives:

SECTION 1. That Honorable Thad Eure, Secretary of State, be and he is hereby requested to conduct a Legislative school in the Hall of the House at his convenience to instruct members, especially new members, in legislative procedures.

SECTION 2. That this resolution shall be in full force and effect from and after its adoption.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS

Bills and resolutions are introduced, read the first time and disposed of as follows:

By Mr. Whitfield:

H. B. 2, a bill to be entitled An act authorizing and directing the Board of County Commissioners of Pender County to deposit in or transfer to the General County Fund all collections of taxes which are delinquent for three years or more.

Referred to Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns.

By Mr. Whitmire:

H. B. 3, a bill to be entitled An act to provide for the payment of compensation for members and presiding officers of the General Assembly in accordance with Article II, Section 28 of the Constitution of North Caro-

some one system, I would recommend that we fashion our own system by it. But I know of no convincing case.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A message is received from the Senate transmitting the following bills and resolutions, which are read the first time and disposed of as follows:

S. R. 5, a Joint Resolution inviting His Excellency, the Governor, to address a joint session of the Senate and House of Representatives at eight-thirty o'clock P. M., January 8, 1951.

On motion of Mr. Womble the rules are suspended and the bill is placed on its immediate passage.

Passes first reading.

Rules suspended.

Passes its second and third readings and is ordered enrolled.

Pursuant to the above resolution Mr. Speaker Taylor names the following Committee to act with a like Committee on the part of the Senate to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House, Messrs. Royster, Whitmire and Taylor of Warren.

On motion of Mr. Doughton, the House adjourns in honor of the memory of Honorable W. B. Reeves, Senator-elect of Ashe County, who died early today, and will meet tomorrow at 10:00 o'clock A. M.

FOURTH DAY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

On motion of Mr. Whitley the reading of the Journal is dispensed with and the same stands approved as written.

Courtesies of the floor are extended to Superior Court Judge W. T. Hatch of Wake County, the Honorable J. D. Ross of Randolph County, the Honorable Harry Nettles of Buncombe County, the Honorable Arch T. Allen of Wake County, the Honorable Raymond Barker of Stanly County and the Honorable J. C. Little of Wake County, all former members of the House of Representatives.

SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER
January 8, 1951

Mr. Speaker:

Pursuant to Senate Resolution No. 5, entitled, "a Joint Resolution inviting His Excellency, the Governor, to address a Joint Session of the Senate and the House of Representatives at 8:30 o'clock P. M., January 8th, 1951," the President has appointed as a Committee on the part of the Senate to act with a like Committee on the part of the House to escort His Excellency, the Governor, to the Hall of the House to address the Joint Session, Senators: Larkins and Price.

Respectfully,

S. RAY BYERLY, Principal Clerk

Pursuant to the above message and Resolution Mr. Speaker Taylor names the following Committee to escort the Governor to the Hall of the House: Messrs. Royster, Whitmire and Taylor of Warren, and the Senate is so notified.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS

Bills and resolutions are introduced, read the first time, and disposed of as follows:

By Mr. Pou:

H. R. 4, a joint resolution authorizing the appointment of a joint committee of the House and Senate to investigate the action thus far taken by the Department of Agriculture and the Budget Bureau with respect to the expenditure of the appropriation made by the General Assembly of 1949 for the construction of a Coliseum at the State Fair grounds, and directing that no further action be taken towards completion of any plans for such work until further authorized by the General Assembly.

On motion of Mr. Pou the bill is placed on the Calendar, pending naming of Committees.

By Mr. Atkins:

H. B. 5, a bill to be entitled An act to amend General Statutes 18-49 and General Statutes 18-58 so as to reduce from one gallon to one-fourth gallon the amount of liquor which may be transported into a dry county or which may be brought into this State from outside the State.

Referred to Committee on Proposition and Grievances.

By Mr. Bost:

H. B. 6, a bill to be entitled An act to amend and supplement "The Revenue Act", being sub-chapter I of Chapter 105 of the General Statutes.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

By Mr. Moore of Wilson:

H. B. 7, a bill to be entitled An act to make appropriations for the maintenance of the State's Departments, Bureaus, Institutions, and Agencies and for other purposes.

Referred to Committee on Appropriations.

SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER
January 8, 1951

Kerr Scott.

The Joint Assembly is called to order by Lieutenant Governor Taylor and the approach of the Governor is announced.

The Governor comes into the Hall of the House escorted by the Joint Committee of the Senate and the House, is presented to the Chair by Senator Larkins and delivers his special Budget Message as follows:

SPECIAL BUDGET MESSAGE
OF
GOVERNOR W. KERR SCOTT
TO THE
GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA

MONDAY, JANUARY 8, 1951

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and Members of the General Assembly:

Last week in my Biennial Message, I reviewed the remarkable progress North Carolina has made. I urged that while we consolidate our gains, we also insure the continuation of our progress to the best of our ability under existing conditions.

At the time that I presented the "Go Forward" program to the General Assembly of 1949, of which many of you were members, we looked forward to a future that promised peace. All of us are aware of the terrible truth that I appear before you tonight under vastly different circumstances. Our State and our Nation face the gravest emergency that has ever confronted us. This Legislature and this Administration face challenges as great, if not greater, than any in the past.

The one thing that we can be sure of in this dark hour is that everything we do must be first in the interest of our preservation as a people and as a democratic nation.

Anything else—everything else—is secondary.

It is my belief that this is no time for new borrowing, or for new forms of taxes . . . It is also my earnest belief that neither should we jeopardize our future by permitting our services to deteriorate.

I believe, further, that by working together we can balance the budget not alone in dollars, but also in terms of the people's needs. The times call for the most critical examination of our services and our resources. I believe we can consolidate our gains without halting our progress.

In the first half of this century, North Carolina moved up from near the bottom rank among the states of the American Union to a position of leadership among the states of the Southeast. During each of these years, in which we made investments in North Carolina in the form of better schools, better roads, better hospitals and better public services of all kinds, we have been richly repaid with increasing dividends.

In the last decade alone, the population of our state increased nearly half a million. It is now more than four million and ranks tenth among the states. During the same ten years the value of our manufactured products was soaring from less than a billion and a half to more than four billion a year. Our farm income more than tripled, and our tangible tax values increased from about two and one-half billion to more than four billion in the same period.

It is worthwhile noting now, as we approach the task of balancing the budget for the biennium ahead, that our productivity is growing at the highest rate in our history. The money we have invested in public services should produce tax dividends at a rate we would not have dared dream of a decade ago. During the last year alone, manufacturing industry selected our state for building new factories costing over 100 million dollars. These new factories will employ about 10,000 workers and add around 25 million dollars a year to our industrial pay rolls. In addition to this, major expansions are being made by business already located in the state. Our non-agricultural work force is at the highest point in its history—approaching a million men and women. Agriculture, with the exception of our cotton farmers, is generally prosperous. Business as a whole in North Carolina is at an all-time peak.

Our population continues to expand. I believe the estimate I made in my Biennial Message, that we would be a State of 8 million by 1980, is conservative.

Our record for the half century proves that any investment we are able to make in the future of North Carolina is a good investment.

With that thought foremost, let us consider the Budget for the biennium beginning July 1, 1951, which I am submitting to you tonight in compliance with the Executive Budget Act. At the same time, the Budget maintenance Appropriation Bill and the Budget Revenue bills are being transmitted.

In this new budget, operation of our public schools alone calls for nearly 185 million dollars, but this does not include bringing teachers' salaries up to the $2,200-$3,100 scale as is being accomplished in this biennium on a contingency basis. To establish teachers' salaries at this level on the basis of present teacher load would require additional amounts estimated at $8,058,381 for the first year of the new biennium, and $9,563,276 for the second—or a total of $17,621,657. I regard it as imperative that we bring our teachers' pay scale up to at least the $2,200-$3,100 bracket without attaching contingency appropriation strings to it.

This Budget Appropriations Bill does not provide for salary increments for State employees, other than school teachers, paid from the General Fund. This would require an estimated $641,423 for the first year and $1,304,162 for the second year of the biennium, or a total of $1,945.545. I consider this vitally important to the success of the personnel plan instituted this biennium. Provision for such increments is already included in the Highway Budget.

Neither does the Budget Appropriations Bill make provision for carrying on the Medical Care Commission hospital building program, which is scheduled for completion in this biennium, but will leave the people of at least 17 counties without proper hospital facilities. Two previous administrations, as well as this one, are committed to rounding out this medical care program. It is estimated that at least $6,419,042 will be required to carry this work forward during the next biennium.

There is no provision for Civil Defense since estimates of requirements could not be assembled in time for presentation to the Advisory Budget Commission; but these requests will be made in a special bill calling, I am informed, for a minimum of $200,000.

Also, no appropriation is made for additional field auditors and deputy collectors in the Revenue Department. The last Legislature saw the need for increasing this staff and authorized additional men. In the last two years, the addition of 90 field auditors and deputy collectors has resulted in collection of tax monies at a rate of nearly $18 for every dollar the additional personnel cost the state. The Commissioner of Revenue is asking for additional auditors, and I recommend that his staff be increased in accordance with reasonable possibilities for improving tax collections.

Neither is there provision in the budget for permanent improvements. In the program authorized for this biennium, 80 million dollars worth of building is now under contract or completed, leaving 44 million dollars to go. With building costs already up an average of 30 percent, it is obvious that a deficiency appropriation will be required to complete this program. While it would take in excess of 15 million dollars to complete the job as planned, I believe we can depend upon the Budget Bureau to make adjustments and consolidate projects so that $10,000,000 will do the job.

In addition to making up the deficiency between original estimates and current building costs which would permit finishing most essential permanent improvements already authorized, including construction of the tubercular hospital at Chapel Hill, I urge the members of this General Assembly to give serious consideration to appropriations for the following new permanent improvements: A primary classroom building at the School for the Deaf in Morganton to cost $358,000, a psychiatric wing to the new hospital at the University of North Carolina to cost $660,000, a diagnostic laboratory for the service of our growing poultry and livestock industries to be located at N. C. State College to cost $400,000, and a spastic hospital wing at Durham to cost $30,000.

It is the course of wisdom to keep public services current with clearly demonstrated needs. It is not good management to let backlogs jam up where they can be avoided—either in the just compensation of those who work for the State, or in necessary building for institutional, educational or administrative purposes.

I have discussed our position growing out of the national emergency with business and financial leaders here in the State and in Washington and New York. I find generally at the top rank belief that we will have a defense or war economy for at least 10 years. I do not assume the role of a prophet, but I do feel in view of this probability of an extended period of abnormal conditions that we should commit ourselves to a reasonable amount of permanent improvements each biennium. Waiting for lower prices is speculative. A consistent, year-by-year building program will not only better discharge the obligations of government to its taxpayers, but prove a stabilizing force in keeping our economy on an even keel. I realize, of course, that in time of national emergency, funds, materials and labor may not be available for meeting specifications written far in advance; and I suggest that the Governor and the Advisory Budget Commission be given more leeway to make such changes and transfers in permanent improvements appropriations as are necessary to avoid bottlenecks in carrying out the intent of the General Assembly.

The approximate total of these things that I have itemized over and above those specified in the Budget Appropriations Bill is 38 million dollars for the biennium, which can be divided about equally into 19 million dollars new money needed for each year. That brings us face to face with the problem of how to raise the money.

The Advisory Budget Commission requested the Commissioner of Revenue and the Tax Research Department to explore this field. The Revenue Commissioner's report is available in full form to all of you, and certain tax information assembled by the Tax Research Department is included in condensed form as an appendix to the Budget.

The Revenue Commissioner's report reveals, among other things, that the number of individual income tax returns increased 115,000 last year, but that this brought the total to only 505,000—or roughly one-eighth of our population. This clearly reflects the need for further improvements in collection and checking methods, including comparison of State and Federal returns, to stop leaks and increase appreciably the collection of taxes justly due the State.

The survey also reveals that North Carolina is not getting the proportionate return on its sales tax that some of the other 27 states levying this tax are receiving. The case of Tennessee is notable. With only a 2 percent rate and a population only 80 percent as large as ours, Tennessee in 1949 collected over a million dollars more than we did with a 3 percent rate! Why such a large difference? The answer is exemptions!

Exemptions in our sales tax not only reduce yield, make administration difficult for both merchants and the State, but foster gross inequities. An instance of this is the $15 ceiling placed on the sales tax on a single article. This operates to make the working man who buys a $500 jalopy pay the full tax, whereas the millionaire who purchases a limousine for $5,000 is forgiven $135 in taxes he would pay if all were taxed alike.

In the fiscal year of 1949-50, a three percent retail sales tax without exemptions would have yielded approximately 66 million dollars, whereas actual collections were only $39,513,140. For the same year, a 3 percent retail sales tax with exemptions only for food for home consumption would have yielded $56,648,561, according to estimates of the Tax Research Department.

Our 3 percent sales tax with the food exemptions limited to basic food products, as was the case in the original version adopted by the Legislature of 1933, would yield considerably more than that.

All of these yields would have been larger during the current fiscal year, and with generally higher prices, could be expected to attain a higher level next year.

The Tax Research and Revenue Departments are prepared to work with you in revising the sales tax law to produce more revenue, and I recommend such revision as the principal source of additional revenue.

I also recommend that you restore a fair tax upon motion picture theatres. The theatres persuaded the Legislature of 1943 that they faced great hardships as a result of World War II and got their gross receipts tax removed. The theatres were not affected as represented, but they are continuing to enjoy special tax privileges. The Tax Research Department estimates that a 3 percent gross receipts tax would yield $537,074 a year after allowing for offsetting present license taxes. The Department also estimates that a 10 percent levy would yield $2,463,931 a year over present license taxes. This would not be a new form of taxation, but a restoration of a tax from which a business was excused because it claimed a hardship which did not materialize.

As I have said, I do not favor entering new fields of taxation at this time, and I am not proposing them.

Our Revenue Act needs certain administrative improvements. Revenue administration extends beyond the duty of collecting taxes. The Commissioner of Revenue is constantly conducting hearings to determine tax liability. This experience has brought out ambiguities which need clarification not only to bring about better enforcement, but also to define more clearly the rights, as well as the liabilities, of taxpayers. The Commissioner of Revenue has compiled a number of administrative changes in the Revenue Act which will be presented to you. I commend these changes for your consideration on their merits.

In the course of your deliberations you will receive reports from several study commissions. These reports will contain meritorious recommendations. Among them will be the proposal of the Highway Safety Committee, which has been approved by the Highway Commission, that 105 men be added to the State Highway Patrol for protecting our highways. Provision already is made for this in the budget.

Another proposal deserving of the most serious consideration will come from the State-Municipal Roads Commission with regard to construction and maintenance of city streets. As I said in my Biennial Message, should the Highway Commission be given this additional responsibility, it should be given additional funds. This would require search for new revenue in the highway fund, about which there are suggestions in the Commission's report.

State taxes levied for the General Fund and Highway Fund are for entirely different purposes, and it is of the greatest importance that we maintain the integrity of our separate funds.

During the current biennium, the Budget Bureau has exercised such close supervision over expenditures that actual outgo will be nearly 5 million dollars less than appropriations. These savings have been achieved without loss of efficiency, and the people of our state may be assured that every safeguard is being exercised to ensure that they get value received for every tax dollar.

There are further economies, consolidations and telescoping of projects that can be worked out to reduce somewhat the formidable chart of expenditures that confront you. You may count upon the complete cooperation of the Budget Bureau wherever this is possible.

On the other hand, we are increasing our institutional patient care, and we must not overlook that this will require substantial appropriations for additional custodial care.

It would be gratifyingly simple if tonight we could say with finality that exactly 15 or 20, or even 30 million dollars additional revenue is needed to maintain the State services without loss of efficiency. But all of us realize we cannot reduce our budget problems to anything so simple at the beginning of this law-making session. Numerous proposals will be made to you for spending money and for raising taxes. Many arguments will be made to you why this and that should not be taxed. Some of these arguments will be compelling. All of them must be heard.

One thing that we face with crystal clearness tonight, however, is that some additional monies will be needed to balance a budget of reasonable and necessary services. How much and from what source are the questions that will challenge the collective leadership and intelligence of this General Assembly in the days ahead more than any other problem.

The task of balancing this budget is going to be a difficult one, but I know we are in agreement that the budget must be balanced. You will find me eager to work with you to achieve this end by any just and reasonable means.

In essence, I am recommending these things:

1) That we consolidate our gains upon a firm basis, but take care not to weaken the firm foundation we have built over the last half century by failure to provide for continuing essential services to meet constantly growing needs.

2) That we authorize no new borrowing and no new forms of taxes, but that we obtain such additional revenue as is needed by removal of exemptions and favoritisms in our tax laws, and by the most equitable collection possible of all taxes justly due the State.

The budget you are receiving tonight represents an enormous amount of work by the members of the Advisory Budget Commission. It is a good budget—and I earnestly hope that every member gives the report and recommendations of the Commission the careful consideration that they deserve. It is only because the budget as submitted does not cover fully the State services I believe to be essential that I am bringing these deficiencies to your attention with suggestions for financing them.

In view of heavy Federal tax increases for defense purposes, I repeat that I do not believe North Carolina should enter new fields of taxation in the critical biennium ahead, or add a single dollar of taxes that is not absolutely necessary for maintaining the public services of a rapidly growing State.

I am confident that the leadership represented in this law-making body will balance our revenues against necessary expenditures without undue hardship on anyone.

To keep America strong, each of the 48 states must remain strong. To keep North Carolina strong, we must meet squarely our responsibilities of educating our children and improving our health standards. We cannot neglect these responsibilities without retarding our people and our state. We cannot neglect them without lessening our contribution to the national security.

North Carolina attained its leadership by daring advances in public service. Every such advance has paid handsome dividends. We simply cannot afford to choke off progress now because the pattern of the future is not certain. It never has been. Two years ago we based our estimates on the assumption that we faced a business recession that would reduce State revenues drastically. This did not materialize.

This year we face baffling uncertainties, but we also face the certainty that North Carolina is growing both in people and productivity.

Let us take counsel of courage in this time of fear. Let us keep our faces confidently to the future that beckons beyond the clouds of war. I have faith in North Carolina. I believe in North Carolina—I believe in it just as fervently as my friend and counsellor, Dr. Clarence Poe, who said, and I quote:

> "I believe in North Carolina, in her limitless potentialities, in the glory of her destiny; I believe that whatever of good or beauty or nobleness men and women in any other land or era have achieved, we men and women of North Carolina today and tomorrow, in the providence of God, may ourselves achieve in tribute to the Commonwealth we love and serve."

These ringing words were uttered in the forepart of the half century during which our state began its remarkable progress on the foundation of public education laid by that great Governor and immortal North Carolinian, Charles Brantley Aycock, who was inaugurated fifty years ago next Monday. More and more, these words of Dr. Poe become the "Credo for North Carolinians;" and tonight I leave them with you as a challenge to the best that is within us as we prepare to resume our advance in full stride when peace and goodwill again reign upon this Earth—as they surely will.

On motion of Senator Johnson, the Joint Assembly dissolves, the Senate stands adjourned and the House resumes consideration of business.

On motion of Mr. Uzzell the House adjourns and will meet tomorrow at 12:00 o'clock Noon.

SPECIAL REPORT OF THE RULES COMMITTEE

Mr. Speaker:

Your Committee on Rules having met on Tuesday, January 9, 1951, for the purpose of formulating the Rules of the House of Representatives for the session of 1951, recommend the adoption of the permanent rules of the Session of 1949, with the following amendments:

AMENDMENT 1: Amend Rule 31 by striking out the words "yeas and nays" in next to the last line of said Rule and substituting therefor the words "ayes and noes."

AMENDMENT 2: Amend Rule 66 by adding after the words "Salaries and Fees" and before the words "Veterans Legislation," the words "Senatorial Districts".

AMENDMENT 3: Amend Rule 68 by striking out the number "59" in line two and substituting therefor the number "64"; by striking out the numbers "60" and "61" in line three and substituting therefor the numbers "65" and "66".

AMENDMENT 4: Amend Rule 73 by striking out the first four sentences thereof or through the word "Printed," in line twelve (12) and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

"Whenever a public bill is introduced seven carbon copies thereof shall accompany the bill, and any bill submitted without the required number of copies shall be immediately returned to the introducer. The Clerk shall stamp the copies with the number stamped upon the original bill. Such copies shall be daily delivered to the joint committee hereafter provided for. The Clerk shall deliver the carbon copies of the bill designated to be printed, as hereinafter provided for, to the Public Printer and cause four hundred copies thereof to be printed."

We respectfully present this report for adoption by the House.

Respectfully submitted,

S. O. WORTHINGTON, Chairman
Rules Committee

On motion of Mr. Worthington the amendments to the rules are adopted.

On motion of Mr. Worthington the amended rules of 1949 are adopted.

Mr. Worthington moves that 4,000 copies of the rules, as amended, be printed, which motion is adopted.

RULES OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
SESSION 1951

Touching the Duties of Speaker

1. It shall be the duty of the Speaker to have the sessions of the House opened with prayer.

2. He shall take the chair every day at the hour fixed by the House on the preceding legislative day, shall immediately call the members to order, and, on appearance of a quorum, cause the Journal of the preceding day to be approved.

3. He shall preserve order and decorum, may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the House. A two-thirds vote of the members present shall be necessary to sustain any appeal from the ruling of the Chair.

4. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

5. Questions shall be put in this form, namely, "Those in favor (as the question may be) will say 'Aye'," and after the affirmative voice has been expressed, "Those opposed will say, 'No'." Upon a call for a division the Speaker shall count; if required he shall appoint tellers.

6. The Speaker shall have a general direction of the hall. He shall have a right to name any member to perform the duties of the Chair, but substitution shall not extend beyond one day, except in case of sickness or by leave of the House.

7. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise specially ordered by the House.

8. In all elections the Speaker may vote. In all other cases he may exercise his right to vote, or he may reserve this right until there is a tie; but in no case shall he be allowed to vote twice on the same question.

9. All acts, addresses, and resolutions, and all warrants and subpoenas issued by order of the House shall be signed by the Speaker.

10. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, the Speaker or other presiding officer shall have power to order the same to be cleared.

11. No person except members and officers and clerks of the General Assembly, Judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts, State officers, former members of the General Assembly who are not registered under the provisions of Article 9 of Chapter 120 of the General Statutes of North Carolina, and persons partieularly invited by the Speaker shall be admitted within the hall of the House; Provided, that no person except members and officers of the General Assembly shall be allowed on the floor of the House or in the lobby in the rear of the Speaker's desk, unless permitted by the Speaker of the House.

12. No motion to suspend the rules for the purpose of extending the courtesies of the floor, lobby or gallery shall be made during the consideration of the public Calendar, except upon motion of the Speaker.

13. Reporters wishing to take down debates may be admitted by the Speaker, who shall assign such places to them on the floor or elsewhere, to effect this object, as shall not interfere with the convenience of the House.

14. Smoking shall not be allowed in the hall, lobbies, or the galleries while the House is in session: Provided, that smoking may be permitted in the lobby in the rear of the Speaker's desk.

ORDER OF BUSINESS OF THE DAY

15. After the approval of the Journal of the preceding day, which shall stand approved without objection, the House shall proceed to business in the following order, viz.:

(1) The receiving of petitions, memorials, and papers addressed to the General Assembly or to the House.

(2) Reports of standing committees.

(3) Reports of select committees.

(4) Resolutions.

(5) Bills.

(6) The unfinished business of the preceding day.

(7) Bills, resolutions, petitions, memorials, messages, and other papers on the Calendar, in their exact numerical order, unless displaced by the orders of the day; but messages and motions to elect officers shall always be in order.

No member shall rise from his seat to introduce any petition, resolution, or bill out of order unless he is permitted so to do by a suspension of the rules.

ON DECORUM IN DEBATE

16. When any member is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address the Speaker.

17. When the Speaker shall call a member to order, the member shall sit down, as also he shall when called to order by another member, unless the Speaker decides the point of order in his favor. By leave of the House a member called to order may clear a matter of fact, or explain, but shall not proceed in debate so long as the decision stands but by permission of the House. Any member may appeal from the decision of the Chair, and if, upon appeal, the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he may proceed; if otherwise, he shall not, except by leave of the House; and if the case, in the judgment of the House, require it, he shall be liable to its censure.

18. No member shall speak until recognized by the Chair, and when two or more members rise at the same time the Speaker shall name the member to speak.

19. No member shall speak more than twice on the main question, nor longer than thirty minutes for the first speech and fifteen minutes for the second speech, unless allowed to do so by the affirmative vote of a majority of the members present; nor shall he speak more than once upon an amendment or motion to commit or postpone, and then not longer than ten minutes. But the House may, by consent of a majority, suspend the operations of this rule during any debate on any particular question before the House, or the Committee on Rules may bring in a special rule that shall be applicable to the debate on any bill.

20. While the Speaker is putting any question, or addressing the House, no person shall speak, stand up, walk out of or cross the House, nor when a member is speaking, entertain private discourse, stand up, or pass between him and the Chair.

21. No member shall vote on any question when he was not present when the question was put by the Speaker, except by the consent of the House. Upon a division and count of the House on any question, no member without the bar shall be counted.

22. Every member who shall be in the hall of the House for the above purpose when the question is put shall give his vote upon a call of the ayes and noes, unless the House for special reason shall excuse him, and no application to be excused from voting or to explain a vote shall be entertained unless made before the call of the roll. The hall of the House shall include the lobbies and offices connected with the hall.

23. When a motion is made it shall be stated by the Speaker or, if written, it shall be handed to the Chair and read aloud by the Speaker or Clerk before debate. A motion to table or adjourn shall be seconded before the motion is put by the Speaker to the vote of the House.

24. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any two members request it.

25. After a motion is stated by the Speaker or read by the Clerk, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn before a decision or amendment, except in case of a motion to reconsider, which motion, when made by a member, shall be deemed and taken to be in possession of the House, and shall not be withdrawn without leave of the House.

26. When a question is under debate no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lay on the table, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged; and no motion to lay on the table, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, being decided, shall be again allowed at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

27. A motion to adjourn or lay on the table shall be decided without debate, and a motion to adjourn shall always be in order, except when the House is voting or some member is speaking; but a motion to adjourn shall not follow a motion to adjourn until debate or some other business of the House has intervened.

28. In case of adjournment without any hour being named, the House shall reconvene on the next legislative day at twelve o'clock noon.

29. When a question has been postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted on again during the session, except upon a two-thirds vote.

30. Any member may call for a division of the question, when the same shall admit of it, which shall be determined by the Speaker.

31. When a motion has been once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member of the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof, on the same or succeeding day, unless it may have subsequently passed the Senate, and no motion to reconsider shall be taken from the table except by a two-thirds vote. But unless such vote has been taken by a call of the ayes and noes, any member may move to reconsider.

32. When the reading of a paper is called for, which has been read in the Houses, and the same is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the House.

33. Petitions, memorials, and other papers addressed to the House shall be presented by the Speaker; a brief statement of the contents thereof may be verbally made by the introducer before reference to a committee, but shall not be debated or decided on the day of their first being read, unless the House shall direct otherwise.

34. When the ayes and noes are called for on any question, it shall be on motion before the question is put; and if seconded by one fifth of the members present, the question shall be decided by the ayes and noes; and in taking the ayes and noes, or on a call of the House, the names of the members will be taken alphabetically.

35. Decency of speech shall be observed and personal reflection carefully avoided.

36. Any member may arise at any time to speak to a question of personal privilege, and upon objection to him proceeding, the Speaker shall determine if the question is one of privilege.

37. Fifteen members, including the Speaker, shall be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members. A quorum shall consist of a majority of the qualified members of the House.

38. No member or officer of the House shall absent himself from the service of the House without leave, unless from sickness or inability.

39. Any member may excuse himself from serving on any committee if he is a member of two standing committees.

40. If any member shall be necessarily absent on temporary business of the House when a vote is taken upon any question, upon entering the House he shall be permitted, or request, to vote, provided that the result shall not be thereby affected.

41. No standing rule or order shall be rescinded or altered without one day's notice given on the motion thereof, and to sustain such motion two-thirds of the House shall be required.

42. The members of the House shall uncover their heads upon entering the House while it is in session, and shall continue so uncovered during their continuance in the hall, except Quakers.

43. A motion to reconsider shall be determined by a majority vote, except a motion to reconsider an indefinite postponement, or a motion to reconsider a motion tabling a motion to reconsider, which shall require a two-thirds vote.

44. After a bill has been tabled or has failed to pass on any of its readings, the contents of such bill or the principal provisions of its subject-matter shall not be embodied in any other measure. Upon the point of order being raised and sustained by the Chair, such measure shall be laid upon the table, and shall not be taken therefrom except by a vote of two-thirds of the elected membership of the House; Provided, no local bill shall be held by the Chair as embodying the provisions or being identical with any Statewide measure which has been laid upon the table, or failed to pass any of its readings. No amendment or rider to a bill before the House shall be in order unless such rider or amendment is germane to the bill under consideration.

45. A motion to table an amendment sent up from the floor shall not be construed as a motion to table the principal bill or any other amendment which has been offered thereto, and if such motion is carried, only the amendment shall lie upon the table.

46. When a member desires to interrupt a member having the floor he shall first obtain recognition by the Chair and permission of the member occupying the floor, and when so recognized and such permission is obtained he may propound a question to the member occupying the floor, but he shall not propound a series of questions or interrogatories or otherwise interrupt the member having the floor; and the Speaker shall, without the point of order being raised, enforce this rule.

STANDING COMMITTEES

47. At the commencement of the Session a standing committee shall be appointed by the Speaker on each of the following subjects, namely:

On Agriculture.
On Appropriations.
On Banks and Banking.
On Commercial Fisheries and Oyster Industry.

JOINT COMMITTEES

On Enrolled Bills.
On Justices of the Peace.
On Library.
On Printing.
On Public Buildings and Grounds.
On Trustees of University.

The first member announced on each committee shall be chairman, and where the Speaker so desires he may designate a vice-chairman.

48. Whenever the House shall decline or refuse to concur in amendments put by the Senate to a bill originating in the House, or shall refuse to adopt a substitute adopted by the Senate for a bill originating in the House, a conference committee shall be appointed upon motion made, consisting of the number named in the motion; and the bill under consideration shall thereupon go to and be considered by the joint conferees on the part of the House and Senate. In considering matters in difference between the House and Senate committed to the conferees only such matters as are in difference between the two Houses shall be considered by the conferees, and the conference report shall deal only with such matters. The conference report shall not be amended. Except as herein set out, the rules of the House of Representatives of Congress shall govern the appointment, conduct, and reports of the conferees.

49. In forming a Committee of the Whole House, the Speaker shall leave the Chair, and a Chairman to preside in committee shall be appointed by the Speaker.

50. Upon bills submitted to a Committee of the Whole House, the bill shall be first read throughout by the Clerk, and then again read and debated by sections, leaving the preamble to be last considered. The body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined, but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the Clerk on a separate paper as the same shall be agreed to by the committee, and so reported to the House. After report, the bill shall again be subject to be debated and amended by sections before a question on its passage be taken.

51. The rules of procedure in the House shall be observed in a Committee of the Whole House, so far as they may be applicable, except the rule limiting the time of speaking and the previous question.

52. In a Committee of the Whole House a motion that the committee rise shall always be in order, except when a member is speaking, and shall be decided without debate.

53. Every bill shall be introduced by motion for suspension of the rules, or by order of the House, or on the report of a committee, unless introduced in regular order during the morning hour.

54. All bills and resolutions shall be reported from the committee to which referred, with such recommendations as the committee may desire to make.

55. Every bill shall receive three readings in the House previous to its passage, and the Speaker shall give notice at each whether it be its first, second, or third reading.

56. Any member introducing a bill or resolution shall briefly endorse thereon the substance of the same.

57. When a bill has been introduced and referred to a committee, if after ten days the committee has failed to report thereon, then the author of the bill may, after three days' public notice given in the House, on motion supported by a vote of two-thirds of the Members present and voting, recall the same from the committee to the floor of the House for consideration and such action thereon as a majority of the Members present may direct.

58. The Clerk of the House shall keep a separate calendar of the public, local, and private bills, and shall number them in the order in which they are introduced, and all bills shall be disposed of in the order they stand upon the Calendar; but the Committee on Rules may at any time arrange the order of precedence in which bills may be considered. No bill shall be twice read on the same day without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members.

59. All resolutions which may grant money out of the Treasury, or such as shall be of public nature, shall be treated in all respects in a similar manner with public bills.

60. The Clerk of the House shall be deemed to continue in office until another is appointed.

61. On the point of no quorum being raised, the doors shall be closed and there shall be a call of the House, and upon a call of the House the names of the members shall be called over by the Clerk and the absentees noted, after which the names of the absentees shall again be called over. Those for whom no excuse or sufficient excuses are made may, by order of those present, if fifteen in number, be taken into custody as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody wherever to be found by special messenger appointed for that purpose.

PREVIOUS QUESTION

62. The previous question shall be as follows: "Shall the main question be now put?" and, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendments and debate. If this question shall be decided in the affirmative, the "main question" shall be on the passage of the bill, resolution, or other matter under consideration; but when amendments are pending, the question shall be taken upon such amendments, in inverse order, without further debate or amendment. If such question be decided in the negative, the main question shall be considered as remaining under debate: Provided, that no one shall move the previous question except the member submitting the report on the bill or other matter under consideration, and the member introducing the bill or other matter under consideration, or the member in charge of the measure, who shall be designated by the chairman of the committee reporting the same to the House at the time the bill or other matter under consideration is reported to the House or taken up for consideration.

When a motion for the previous question is made, and pending the second thereto by a majority, debate shall cease; but if any member obtain the floor, he may move to lay the matter under consideration on the table, or move an adjournment, and when both or either of these motions are pending the question shall stand:

(1) Previous question.
(2) To adjourn.
(3) To lay on the table.

And then upon the main question, or amendments, or the motion to postpone indefinitely, postpone to a day certain, to commit, or amend, in the order of their precedence, until the main question is reached or disposed of; but after the previous question has been called by a majority, no motion, or amendment, or debate shall be in order.

All motions below the motions to lay on the table must be made prior to a motion for the previous question; but, pending and not after the second therefor, by the majority of the House, a motion to adjourn or lay on the table, or both, are in order. This constitutes the precedence of the motions to adjourn and lay on the table over other motions, in Rule 25.

Motions stand as follows in order of precedence in Rule 26:

Previous question.

Adjourn.

Lay on the table.

Postpone definitely.

To commit or amend.

When the previous question is called, all motions below it fall, unless made prior to the call, and all motions above it fall after its second by a majority required. Pending the second, the motions to adjourn and lay on the table are in order, but not after a second. When in order and every motion is before the House, the question stands as follows:

Previous question.
Adjourn.
Lay on the table.
Postpone indefinitely.
Postpone definitely.
To commit.
Amendment to amendment.
Amendment.
Substitute.
Bill.

The previous question covers all other motions when seconded by a majority of the House, and proceeds by regular graduation to the main question, without debate, amendment, or motion, until such question is reached or disposed of.

63. All committees, other than the Committee on Appropriations, when favorably reporting any bill which carries an appropriation from the State, shall indicate same in the report, and said bill shall be referred to the Committee on Appropriations for a further report before being acted upon by the House. All committees, other than the Committee on Finance, when favorably reporting any bill which in any way or manner raises revenue or levies a tax or authorizes the issue of bonds or notes, whether public, public-local, or private, shall indicate same in the report, and said bill shall be referred to the Committee on Finance for a further report before being acted upon by the House.

64. The Principal Clerk and the Sergeant-at-Arms may appoint, with the approval of the Speaker, such assistants as may be necessary to the efficient discharge of the duties of their various offices, and one or more of whom may be assigned by the Speaker from the Principal Clerk's office to the office of the Attorney General for the purpose of drafting bills.

65. The Speaker may appoint a Clerk to the Speaker, a Chaplain of the House, and he may also appoint ten pages to wait upon the Sessions of the House, and when the pressure of business may require, he may appoint five additional pages.

66. The Chairman of each of the following committees: Agriculture, Appropriations, Banks and Banking, Conservation and Development, Constitutional Amendments, Counties, Cities and Towns, Courts and Judicial Districts, Education, Elections and Election Laws, Employment Security, Finance, Health, Higher Education, Insurance, Judiciary No. 1, Judiciary No. 2, Manufacturers and Labor, Mental Institutions, Military Affairs, Propositions and Grievances, Public Utilities, Public Welfare, Roads, Rules, Salaries and Fees, Senatorial Districts, Veterans Legislation and Wildlife Resources may each appoint a clerk to the said Committee. All Committee Clerks heretofore provided for are to be appointed by and with the approval of the Speaker. With the exception of the Clerks appointed to the Appropriations and Finance, the Clerks to all the other above named committees, when not on duty with their specific committee shall report to and be under the supervision of the Principal Clerk of the House for assignment to special duty with other committees and to serve the convenience of the members of the House.

67. The Chairman of all committees shall notify, or cause to be notified, the first named introducer on such bills as are set for hearing before their respective committees, the date, time and place of such hearing.

68. That no clerk, laborer, or other person employed or appointed under Rules 64, 65, and 66 hereof shall receive during such employment appointment, or service any compensation from any department of the State Government, or from any other source, and there shall not be voted, paid or awarded any additional pay, bonus or gratuity to any of them, but said persons shall receive only the pay for such duties and services as now provided by law. When the House is not in session the pages shall be under the supervision of the Principal Clerk.

69. The Chairman and five other members of any committee shall constitute a quorum of said committee for the transaction of business.

70. The Committee on the Journal shall examine daily the Journal of the House before the hour of convening, and report after the opening of the House whether or not the proceedings of the previous day have been correctly recorded.

71. When a bill shall be reported by a committee with a recommendation that it be not passed, but accompanied by a minority report, the question before the House shall be "The adoption of the minority report," and if failing to be adopted by a majority vote, the bill shall be placed upon the unfavorable calendar. Such minority report shall be signed by at least one-fourth of the members of the committee who were present and voting when the bill was considered in Committee. In the event there is an unfavorable report with no minority report accompanying it, the bill shall be placed upon the unfavorable calendar. To take a bill from the unfavorable calendar, a two-thirds vote shall be necessary.

72. A bill from the unfavorable calendar shall not be debatable, but the movant may make a brief and concise statement of the reasons for the motion before making the motion, taking not more than five minutes.

73. Whenever a public bill is introduced seven carbon copies thereof shall accompany the bill, and any bill submitted without the required number of copies shall be immediately returned to the introducer. The Clerk shall stamp the copies with the number stamped upon the original bill. Such copies shall be daily delivered to the joint committee hereafter provided for. The Clerk shall deliver the carbon copies of the bill designated to be printed as hereinafter provided for, to the Public Printer and cause four hundred copies thereof to be printed. On the morning following the delivery of the printed copies, the Chief Clerk shall cause the chief page to have one copy thereof put upon the desk of each member and shall retain the other printed copies in his office. A sufficient number of the printed copies for the use of the committee to which the bill is referred shall be by the chief page delivered to the chairman or clerk of that committee. If the bill is passed, the remaining copies shall be by the chief page delivered to the Principal Clerk of the Senate for the use of the Senate. The cost of printing shall be paid from the contingent fund of the House of Representatives. The Chairman of the Rules Committee of the House and the Chairman of the Rules Committee of the Senate shall appoint a subcommittee consisting of two members of the House and two members of the Senate from the body of the House and Senate, and such chairmen shall notify the Principal Clerk of the House and the Senate who has been so appointed. Such sub-committee shall meet daily and examine the carbon copies of the public bills introduced and determine which of such bills shall be printed and which shall not, and stamp the copies accordingly. Such subcommittees shall serve for one week unless for good cause the chairmen of the respective rules committees shall determine otherwise. If the member introducing a public bill, which the committee shall determine should not be printed, so desires, he may appear before the committee at the next meeting thereof with reference thereto.

74. Whenever any resolution or bill is introduced a carbon copy thereof shall be attached thereto, and the Principal Clerk shall cause said carbon copy to be numbered as the original resolution or bill is numbered, and shall cause the same to be available at all times to the member introducing the same. In case the resolution or bill is a public resolution or bill, an additional carbon copy shall also be attached thereto for the use of the Public Printer, under the provisions of Rule 66.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PROTEST AND NOTICE OF ELECTION CONTEST

To the Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of North Carolina for the Session of 1951:

The protest and objection to the seating and recognizing of Dr. W. A. Sams as a member of the House of Representatives from Madison County having been referred to the Committee on Elections and Election Laws, the committee scheduled a public hearing on said protest on Tuesday, January 9, 1951, at 9:30 A. M. The protestant and his counsel, Mr. James M. Baley, Jr., were not present and at the request of Mr. Fisher, the Representative from Transylvania County, the committee adjourned to January 11, 1951, at 9:30 A. M. to afford protestant further opportunity to appear before the committee to present his protest and supporting data. At the time set all members of the committee were present at the hearing room. The protestant was present in person and represented by his counsel, Mr. Baley. Dr. W. A. Sams was unable to be present because of illness. However, he was represented by his council, Mr. Leake. The committee was of the opinion that the protestant had failed to comply with the provisions of the General Statutes, Section 120-10 respecting notice in such contests, but notwithstanding its doubt with reference to the jurisdictional matter of notice, preferred to investigate the contest on its merits.

The official returns show that Dr. Sams was elected by a majority of sixty-four votes. Protestant asserts that he received a majority of seventeen votes. In his protest he asserts that the tabulation of the votes was changed between the election night, November 7, and the date of the official canvass, and specifies four precincts in which the changes were made. His attack on the certification of Dr. Sams as the accredited representative from Madison County is based on his assertion that unofficial tabulations reported to the newspaper on the night of the election should be conclusive and binding. He specifically challenges the official returns in four precincts.

In the protest it is asserted that protestant received 25 more votes for Representative than did Dr. Sams. In the oral argument it was asserted that protestant received 17 more. A tabulation of the votes shown by the protest, if all were accepted, would result in the election of protestant by 29 votes. These figures are given for the purpose of indicating the very slender margin by which protestant asserts that he is entitled to the seat and to show the variations in his own figures.

In the specifications he asserts that Dr. Sams' votes in Township Number 1, Ward 4, should be reduced by 24 votes. All of the election officials in this precinct, Democratic and Republican, and the Republican chairman in this precinct, have filed affidavits verifying the correctness of the official returns. It is to the committee inconceivable that there is any real basis for the charge with respect to this precinct.

Precinct Number 6: In this precinct the official returns signed by all of the election officials, Democratic and Republican, show that Dr. Sams received 188 votes. One copy shows that Mr. Rice received 26 votes, and the other copy shows that he received 27 votes. An examination of a photostatic copy of the original returns clearly demonstrates that there has been no change or erasure in the vote for Dr. Sams. Protestant would totally disregard these returns and reduce Dr. Sams' vote from 188 to 151. The committee is unable to find any sound foundation for the change or any reason to change or modify the official returns.

Number 8, Ward 2: The official returns in this precinct show that Dr. Sams received 174 votes, Mr. Rice 47. This return is signed by all of the election officials, Democratic and Republican. An examination of the photostatic copy of the official return has been made, and it does not indicate that there has been any change or tampering with the returns. Protestant would reduce Dr. Sams' vote in this precinct from 174 to 149. The committee is of the opinion that the evidence does not support the charge.

The State Board of Elections, as authorized by statute, has prescribed rules "governing contests with respect to election and removal of election officials." Rule 1 provides: "If, after the canvass is completed by the County Board of Elections, any candidate or candidates, participating in such primary or election, demands a recount by the County Board of Elections in any one or more precincts in the county, and presents sufficient evidence by affidavit tending to show errors in the canvassing of said votes by the County Board of Elections, either because of an error in the tabulation thereof or because of the counting of alleged illegal ballots, in an amount alleged to be sufficient to change the results of the nomination or election of such candidate or candidates, then this demand for the recount must be made to the chairman or secretary of the County Board of Elections, in writing, by 6 o'clock p.m. on or before the second day following the completion of the original count by said County Board and the declaration by it of the results of said primary or election." It is significant that protestant, as admitted before the committee, has never requested a recount of the ballots in Madison County.

It is a matter of public knowledge that the State Bureau of Investigation has been called upon to investigate the charges made with respect to the frauds and irregularities asserted in the Madison County election. The affidavits of the election officials at the precincts specified were in the possession of Mr. Maxwell and the State Bureau of Investigation and were examined by the sub-committee in the preparation of this report, pursuant to a request of the protestant. The sub-committee also had available to it the photostatic copies of the official returns made by election officials.

The committee, upon its investigation of the charges made, voted unanimously in favor of the rejection of the protest and the seating of Dr. Sams.

Respectfully submitted,

ELECTIONS AND ELECTION LAWS COMMITTEE

By: GEORGE R. UZZELL (Signed)
Vice Chairman

On motion of Mr. Uzzell, the report of the Committee on Protest and Notice of Election Contest is adopted, the adoption of which constitutes the rejection of the protest.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Pursuant to H. R. 4, entitled "a joint resolution authorizing the appointment of a joint committee of the House and Senate to investigate the action thus far taken by the Department of Agriculture and the Budget Bureau with respect to the expenditure of the appropriation made by the General Assembly of 1949 for the construction of a coliseum at the State Fair Grounds, and directing that no further action be taken towards completion of any plans for such work until further authorized by the General Assembly," the following report is submitted by Mr. Lassiter for the Committee:

TO THE HONORABLE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE AND
SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Your committee was directed by H. R. 4, to investigate and report on an appropriation of the 1949 General Assembly for the construction of a Coliseum at the North Carolina State Fair Grounds, Raleigh, North Carolina. The appropriation was in the amount of $1,257,000.00.

Your committee has held repeated hearings since the adoption of the resolution on January 19, 1951. An opportunity has been afforded the public and all interested parties to be heard. Your committee has heard the Commissioner of Agriculture, a representative of the office of the Assistant Director of the Budget, the Director of the State Fair, and other public officials responsible for the execution of the project. We have also interviewed the contractor to whom the project was awarded on competitive bid, the architect responsible for the plans and other witnesses called by the committee who had special knowledge valuable to the committee.

We beg to make the following findings and recommendations:

From the committee's investigation the following appear to be the facts. The proposal to construct a sizable central building somewhat similar to or approaching the one under consideration is not a new idea, but has been urged by farmers and the State Fair authorities for the past several years. The 1949 General Assembly with the recommendation of the Advisory Budget Commission, appropriated the sum of $1,985,000.00 for the construction of buildings at the North Carolina State Fair grounds. $1,257,000.00 was specifically appropriated for the construction of a "Coliseum". After the 1949 session, Mr. William Henley Deitrich was employed as architect. Mr. Deitrich associated competent consultant engineers and Mr. Mathew Nowicki, architect. During the development of the plans for the Coliseum Mr. Nowicki was killed, thus delaying the plans and bids for at least several weeks.

After completion of the plans, the Coliseum project was advertised and bids opened on December 27, 1950. The lowest bids for the construction of the Coliseum (including heating and electrical contracts separately advertised) exceeded the appropriation by approximately $370,000.00. Following receipt of the bids it was determined to eliminate the heating and to reduce the lighting specifications to require the expenditure of only $50,000.00. As a result of the above eliminations and reductions, the total cost of the project was reduced to $1,184.956.00. To this should be added the cost of plumbing which was a contract separately let in the amount of $47,995.00, plus the architect's fee of $44,904.68, plus the lighting allowance of $50,000.00. These total $1,327,885.68. The deficiency between the cost of the project and the appropriation was made up by a transfer of funds appropriated in 1949 for the construction of State and County exhibit buildings and a zoological building at the State Fair Grounds. This transfer of funds was approved by the Budget Bureau on January 3, 1951. On January 3, 1951, the contract for the construction of the building was awarded to William Muirhead Construction Company of Durham, North Carolina at a price of $1,184,956. The contract was signed on that date by the contractor and by L. Y. Ballentine, Commissioner of Agriculture. The contract was formally approved by the State Board of Agriculture on January 8, 1951, upon advice by the Attorney General that this approval was necessary. Thereafter, the Attorney General approved the contract as to form.

The following is a statement of work accomplished under the various appropriations by the 1949 General Assembly for the State Fair Grounds. After the 1950 State Fair in October, 1950, the swine, poultry and cattle barns were torn down and transferred to other State agencies. After signing of the contract on January 3, 1951, the contractor commenced preparations for construction and moved some heavy equipment to the site. One concrete footing of approximately 25 cubic yards of concrete was poured, and the contractor began the grading of the site.

In addition to the work accomplished, the contractor has obligated himself to subcontractors for certain parts of the construction. We understand that valid and binding contracts cover this work, after award of the contract. The contractor also caused to be undertaken engineering studies on the proposed building and has ordered most of the steel required. He has also purchased the steel cables needed for the support of the roof. Some of the materials ordered have actually been shipped, but in what amount your committee is unable to ascertain. We understand that there have already been partially fabricated two massive steel arch hinges which are required for support of the building at either end.

The Coliseum itself consists of a circular concrete steel and glass structure. The outside dimensions have a diameter of 300 feet. The ground floor consists of a vast arena with concrete tiers adaptable to seating arrangements, rising on two halves of a circle. The seating capacity of the structure for normal purposes is said to be 9,000; for special events an increase to 12,000 is possible. For other events the seating capacity would be reduced to 5,000. Five thousand chairs are to be permanently installed (which are not included in the general contract) and arrangements are to be made for 4,000 additional temporary seats. The main floor is of concrete construction and provides a large flat area for display and other activities. The exterior walls are entirely of steel uprights and wired glass with many windows. The roof of the building is a steel, built-up concave covering suspended by steel cables. The design of the building can be conservatively said to embody quite new applications of architectural principles.

In spite of its unique design, the committee has no reason to question the soundness of the engineering nor the economy of the unit cost. The unit cost amounts to $149.00 per seat based upon 9,000 seats, or slightly more than $13.00 per square foot of floor space. The cost per cubic foot is $.365. Some witnesses characterized this as a low price, but it is impossible in these high cost times to agree that any construction cost is low. For comparable industrial type buildings the cost would be high but considering the height of the building your committee feels that the contract price is not out of line with current high costs of construction for a building of such large size.

The large open main floor area and large seating capacity of the structure make it adaptable to many uses. Its primary utility and the main function for which it was designed is the exhibition and judging of cattle and livestock. Sufficient area and adaptability is provided to accommodate any large scale exhibit of animate and inanimate things. The building consists primarily of seats around a large open space which naturally could be utilized for a variety of projects. The architect and others suggest as possible uses, among others, carnivals, pageants, industrial exhibits, livestock sales, and athletic contests. The capacity and utility of the project can be judged by the fact that a large circus could easily be exhibited in the structure. The Coliseum is planned as part of an overall development of a 220 acre tract owned by the State at the present site of the State Fair Grounds. As understood by the Committee the final utilization of the tract has been planned to provide for complete future development. In addition to certain of the present buildings to be retained, there is planned the stock judging Coliseum, extensive livestock barns, a machinery exhibit building, dormitories, dining room and kitchen facilities for 4-H and FFA members, State and county exhibit buildings, zoological and botanical buildings and an open athletic stadium to seat 100,000 people. It is also contemplated that ultimately the entire tract will be extensively beautified and landscaped.

For the total development only approximately $2,000,000.00 was appropriated by the 1949 General Assembly, including the Coliseum under discussion. Contracts have been let for the construction of the 4-H and FFA dormitories and for the livestock barns.

If the full plans for the Fair Grounds are achieved, it is obvious that the total investment in structures and equipment will far exceed the $2,000,000.00 appropriated in 1949. The committee received repeated assurances that further improvements could be accomplished without additional State appropriations. Dr. J. S. Dorton, Manager of the State Fair emphasized that the project could be self-sustaining and self-developing. It is to be noted that no study has been made to determine whether the State Fair development could be achieved by the sale of Revenue Bonds. The 1938 Revenue Bond Act was reenacted by the 1949 General Assembly after approval of the appropriation for the State Fair.

RECOMMENDATIONS

In resolving the problem of recommending what steps should be taken by the General Assembly of 1951 with respect to this appropriation, your committee has been obviously constricted by the posture of the present contracts and construction. Foremost in your committee's mind has been the realization that the integrity of the State could easily be jeopardized by a refusal to carry out a commitment made in good faith. The contractor for the Coliseum has posted bond and is obligated to perform. He has made commitments to subcontractors and has taken other steps in reliance on the appropriation made by the 1949 General Assembly and on the contract tendered to him by the State of North Carolina. Your committee could not bring itself to recommend a course of action which would reflect upon the willingness of the State to carry out its bargains. None would suggest that our State arbitrarily take a course of action on which we, as private individuals would not freely embark. Since the State had already undertaken a valid obligation to the contractor when this committee was appointed, we could not recommend that this Assembly lightly cast off that obligation without providing just compensation for the contractor.

Your committee sought the advice of the Attorney General as to the liability at law of the State under the contract which it had assumed. We attach hereto his opinion as Exhibit A. From that it is apparent that there is no enforceable legal remedy available to the contractor should the General Assembly require the rescission of the agreement. The contractor in that case could institute an action in the Supreme Court for the purpose of determining his damages. The Supreme Court would then transmit the amount of damage found to the General Assembly for correction by private bill. The General Assembly could not be forced to compensate the contractor. In spite of this, your committee could never recommend that the contract be rescinded without compensating the contractor, the architect, and others in a just and reasonable amount. Your committee was not authorized to negotiate or attempt to negotiate a settlement on the assumption that rescission was to be accomplished. We are able to report, however, that the State's obligation to the contractor and to the architect would run to many thousands of dollars. A majority of the committee feels that reference to the Attorney General's opinion will indicate an obligation that might attain as much as $250,000.00. The determination of the actual amount of the State's obligation involves loss of profit and also damages incurred by reason of acts of the contractor and others under the contract before rescission. This might include profits of subcontractors and compensation for damages to them. This also would include obligations to the architect for work which has already been completed. In estimating these losses your committee feels that substantial expenditures would have to be provided by the Legislature if the contract were rescinded. For these expenditures, the State would have received nothing other than the plans and specifications.

The appropriation of the 1949 General Assembly was motivated by a desire to improve the State Fair. A number of producers of dairy and beef cattle, hogs, sheep and poultry state that they desire to show animals at the fair, but cannot do so unless and until adequate facilities are provided. As for the youth of the State, in 1950 only 85 calves were shown by FFA and 4-H boys and girls at the Fair in Raleigh, while that group exhibited 1400 calves at other fairs in the State. It is also pointed out that the building will be suitable for large sales of different kinds and breeds of animals, thus lending further encouragement and impetus to an important and rapidly developing industry. It has been and is now generally acknowledged that our State Fair should be substantially improved if it is to be continued. Your committee feels that even if the present Coliseum is not constructed some other provision for livestock and other Fair activities would have to be provided by this Assembly; otherwise, the destruction of the buildings already accomplished and the general poor condition of the Fair if left as it now stands would not justify its continuance. Confronted with the necessity for making some appropriation for the Fair and adding to this appropriation the amount lost by the State in cancelling its contract, your committee feels that no unusual savings would result if this contract were cancelled, and the plans revamped. Further, the delay caused by this course might result in the failure of the entire project.

Confronted with the unenviable position inherent in the State's refusal to carry out this contract and considering the amount of savings possible under the most stringent cutback of the present Coliseum specifications, your committee could not pass upon the appropriation as if it were now being presented for the first time. Your committee might well have reached a different conclusion had it been free to examine the appropriation without the firm commitments already made.

The William Neal Reynolds Coliseum is located 3.2 miles from the site of the State Fair Coliseum. This is a State operated facility which cost approximately $2,000,000.00. The Reynolds Coliseum will seat 12,500. It is capable of accommodating any event or performance which can be put on at the State Fair Coliseum with the exception of large livestock judging, exhibit and sale events where the animals must be housed close to the exhibition area. The Reynolds Coliseum however, has no stable facilities or barns, and is too far removed from the Fair grounds to be used in connection with the display of State Fair agricultural products. In the opinion of the committee there can well be instances in which a coliseum at the Fair Grounds and the Reynolds Coliseum will be in direct competition such for example as the display of large commercial exhibits or an automobile show. In these circumstances the State would have provided for this city and area two immense coliseums, neither of which is likely to be economically self-sustaining. In view of the low prospective utilization, your committee feels that the events to be accommodated at the State Fair Coliseum could have been provided for with a far smaller expenditure than that committed to this project. Were your committee free to recommend a reduction in the appropriation it would unhesitatingly suggest that the agricultural and livestock exhibitions be accommodated with a less ambitious structure than that to which the State has been previously committed.

Some question has been raised as to the eligibility of the State Fair Coliseum under the executive orders of the Federal Government. In October, 1950, the National Production Authority issued order No. M4 which banned many structures designed for recreational and amusement purposes. (Including "Exhibition" and "Exposition" buildings). This was supplemented by the order of January 13, 1951, which halted commercial construction and reiterated the ban on recreational construction. The Assistant Director of the Budget and other responsible State officials secured verbal clearance of the Coliseum project after the issuance of the first order. At the same time a written exemption was obtained for several gymnasia to be constructed at State educational institutions. This written clearance contained the specific provision that no bleachers or permanent seating arrangement be constructed. Your committee has not been advised of any further steps taken by the responsible State officials to obtain a written clearance for the Coliseum or to secure a more current ruling under the January 13, 1951 order.

Your committee feels that the enforcement of the orders of the United States Government is the responsibility of the Federal authorities. We also feel that there is an obvious moral obligation on the Executive Branch of this State to make a conscientious interpretation of the restrictions imposed and an earnest effort to obtain whatever clearance is necessary. We feel that from the point of view of North Carolina, the burden of making the necessary decision as to the eligibility of this project and obtaining the necessary clearance in the proper form and with the proper guarantee rests on the Director of the Budget and the Commissioner of Agriculture. Your committee does not feel that it is within the scope of its authority under the Joint Resolution to initiate any further inquiry to the U. S. Government; therefore, your committee has rested on the assurance given it by our responsible State officials.

It has been suggested that since an appropriation was made by the 1949 General Assembly, this fact alone should preclude the 1951 Legislature from inquiring into and rearranging the appropriation. Your committee cannot subscribe to that view. We feel that it is not only proper but mandatory that this and other General Assemblies constantly re-examine previous actions of prior Assemblies with a view of readjustment where necessary. The amendment of all types of laws is a constant process. Appropriations are no exception. Indeed, we feel strongly bound to the view that any unexpended and any uncommitted funds should at all times be subject to the surveillance and control of any Assembly. The contrary view would defeat any amendment of any law. We feel that an investigation of the nature ordered is a constructive procedure and a process which should be freely pursued by the General Assembly. Only in this way can past mistakes be rectified.

SUMMARY

Considering the commitment already made by the State and considering the relatively large loss for work already done and small economy to be achieved by a rescission of the present contract and the adoption of other plans for the State Fair Grounds, your committee recommends that this General Assembly take no further action with respect to the appropriation for the State Fair Coliseum. This recommendation is made although your committee wishes that it could have viewed the matter as an originial request for an appropriation.

ENTRY FOR THE JOURNAL

During the course of our investigation, this committee received assurances from the Commissioner of Agriculture and Dr. J. S. Dorton, Manager of the State Fair, that the State Fair would never again request further appropriations from the State. These assurances were given in the presence of the Board of Agriculture who attended our meeting. We, therefore, cannot leave this subject without making a permanent record of these assurances.

The State Fair fund has at the present time approximately $240,000.00 accrued from operations. In 1950, the profit was approximately $40,000; in 1949, $70,000. Average attendance in the last several years was approximately 200,000 per year. Many of these, of course, free entrants. No record of paid admission was made available to the committee. A fee of 50c only was charged for admission. Dr. Dorton was firm in his statements that the State Fair could be operated on a self-sustaining basis. He stated to the committee that future capital improvements could be financed from the State Fair, revenue and sources outside of State funds. The Commissioner of Agriculture was present during these statements and did not disagree, although he had previously reserved a right to take exception where he thought it necessary.

Your committee desires that this entire report be entered in the Senate and House Journals for the future information for all concerned.

Respectfully submitted,

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA
DEPARTMENT OF ATTORNEY GENERAL
RALEIGH

January 22, 1951

Senator James H. Pou Bailey
Raleigh
North Carolina

Dear Senator Bailey:

I received your letter of January 18th written as Chairman of the Joint Committee of the House and Senate to investigate the advisability of continuing the construction of the Coliseum at the North Carolina State Fair Grounds.

I note that the Committee would like for me to furnish them with an opinion as to the extent of the liability of the State of North Carolina under the existing contract between the State Board of Agriculture and the William Muirhead Construction Company, executed on the 8th day of January, 1951, calls for the payment of the sum of $1,184,956.00.

This contract was signed by Honorable L. Y. Ballentine, Commissioner of Agriculture, in the name of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, State Fair Division, and the State Board of Agriculture by authority of a resolution adopted by the State Board of Agriculture on Monday, January 8, 1951. The contractor gave a performance bond which was executed by the National Surety Corporation of New York as surety in the sum of the total amount of the contract—$1,184.956.00. I have before me a copy of the contract which I can show the Committee at any time if they wish to see it.

In addition to this contract, another contract has been executed for the plumbing in the Coliseum with Smith & Mills Plumbing & Heating Company of Raleigh, North Carolina, calling for the payment of the total sum of $47,995.00. This contract is executed in like manner with a performance bond being signed by the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company of Baltimore, Maryland, in the sum of the total amount of the contract, $47,995.00. I also have a copy of this contract which I shall be glad to show the Committee upon request. These are quite bulky documents.

In addition to these two contracts, there was the usual State contract made for the employment of architects with Mr. William Henley Deitrick, who receives for his services five per cent of the total amount expended on the contract.

It is my understanding from information furnished me by recitals in the contracts and from the Budget Bureau that these contracts were let after public bidding in compliance with the North Carolina Statute.

You did not indicate in your letter as to the particular question which the Committee may have in mind as to "the extent of the liability of the State of North Carolina under the existing contract". If thereby it was intended to inquire as to the measure of damages which would be applicable in the event the State should see fit to direct a discontinuance of the construction of the Coliseum, I would refer you to the case of CLEMENTS v. THE STATE, 77 N. C. 142. In this case the plaintiff claimed $30,000.00 damages for breach of contract, entered into between the State and himself for the manufacture of cell doors for the penitentiary. The plaintiff claimed that on account of the great reduction in the cost of raw materials, labor, etc., which took place between the time of executing the contract and the breach thereof, he would have made about $27,000.00 if the contract had been performed. The State had repudiated the contract as appears from the facts stated in the former opinion in this case, 76 N. C. 199. The Court, in this case, charged the jury as follows:

"(1) That the measure of damages for breach of executory contracts of this character is, that the contractor is entitled to recover the profits which he lost by the default of the other party to the contract. (2) That these profits are to be arrived at by taking the market value at the time of the breach, and if no market value, then by a minute inquiry into the costs of materials, etc. (3) That the jury must assess the value of the doors at the time of the breach, and the damages would be the difference between the contract price and such value."

This charge was upheld in a per curiam opinion written by Pearson, C. J. This is a case in which the Supreme Court acted on its original jurisdiction as to a claim against the State and the Court recommended to the General Assembly that the judgment of the award of the jury of $20,000.00 damages be paid to the contractor.

In the case of ROCKINGHAM COUNTY v. LUTEN BRIDGE CO., 35 F (2d) 301 in which Judge John J. Parker wrote the opinion, the measure of damages allowable in the case in which Rockingham County had repudiated the contract for the construction of a bridge was involved. As to this matter, the Court said:

"The measure of plaintiff's damage, upon its appearing that notice was duly given not to build the bridge, is an amount sufficient to compensate plaintiff for labor and materials expended and expense incurred in the part performance of the contract, prior to its repudiation, plus the profit which would have been realized if it had been carried out in accordance with its terms. See Novelty Advertising Co. v. Farmers' Mut. Tobacco Warehouse Co., sepra."

In the instant case, if the State should decide to discontinue the construction of the proposed Coliseum, and if the State and the Contractors are unable to agree upon some basis of compensation to the contractors for the discontinuance of the work, the legal measure of damages would be the profits which the contractors might reasonably have made in the performance of these contracts plus any loss which they might sustain on account of the work which they had already done which would be of no recoverable value to them, and plus any loss which they might sustain on account of the purchase of materials acquired for this work. If these materials could be sold at cost or at a profit, this would be taken into account in determining the amount of their loss.

The liability of the State on the contract with the architect would be for that part of his commission which had been earned in the preparation of the plans and participating in the contract letting, which is fixed by the contract as three and one-half per cent of the total cost of the structure. Under the contract, the architect is to be paid one and one-half per cent of this cost for supervising the construction of the building if his services are used for this purpose. The State retained the option to determine whether or not the architect's services would be used to supervise the work and so if the building is discontinued, this part of the architect's fee would not have to be paid.

If I can be of any further service in this connection, please advise me. With highest regards.

Sincerely,

HARRY MCMULLAN, Attorney General

Mr. Lassiter moves the adoption of the Report.

Upon this question Mr. Greene calls for the "ayes" and "noes".

The call is sustained.

The roll of the House is called and the Report is adopted by the following vote:

STATEMENT OF MEMBER

Statement of Representative Blackwell for the Journal in connection with H. B. 31.

Every citizen who conscientiously believes that establishment of ABC stores is right, and every citizen who conscientiously believes that ABC stores should not be established, has the right to his opinion and the right to express it by his vote. In our State the decision has always been made by the vote of the people themselves.

The decision before me in 1949, and in this Legislature, is whether all of the people of Forsyth County who had the right to vote on Forsyth County Representatives should likewise have the right to vote in an ABC election. My responsibility to all of our citizens requires me to answer—Yes.

Therefore, with due respect for the opinions of my fellow representatives from Forsyth who introduced this bill, I cannot vote for this bill.

H. B. 260, a bill to be entitled An act to amend the Charter of the Town of Mount Olive so as to extend the corporate limits of said town.

SPECIAL MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER
Friday, March 9, 1951

Mr. Speaker:

It is ordered that a message be sent your Honorable Body with the information that pursuant to Senate Resolution 164, "a joint resolution accepting the invitation to the members of the Legislature to visit Cherry Point, the President has appointed the following committee on the part of the Senate: Senators Larkin, Rankin and Hicks.

Respectfully,

S. RAY BYERLY, Principal Clerk

SENATE CHAMBER
March 8, 1951

Mr. Speaker:

It is ordered that a message be sent to the House of Representatives with the information that the Senate has failed to concur in House Amendment to S. B. 203, entitled "a bill to be entitled An act to extend the authority of the police officers of the Town of Clinton for a distance of two miles beyond the town limits", and requests a conference thereon. To this end the President has appointed as conferees on the part of the Senate, Senators Carlyle and Horton to act with a like committee on the part of the House to the end that the differences existing between the two bodies may be adjusted.

Respectfully,

S. RAY BYERLY, Principal Clerk

Pursuant to the above message of non-concurrence and upon motion of Mr. Uzzell, Conference Committee is appointed.

Mr. Speaker appoints as Conferees on the part of the House Messrs. Uzzell, Tew and Fisher of Transylvania, and the Senate is so notified.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS

Bills and resolutions are introduced, read the first time, and disposed of as follows:

By Mr. Moore of Wilson:

H. R. 636, a joint resolution expressing the thanks of the General Assembly of North Carolina to the people of Craven County and the City of New Bern for their courtesy and hospitality to the members of the General Assembly assembled in session in the City of New Bern, the historical home and meeting place of the General Assembly of North Carolina.

On motion of Mr. Moore of Wilson the rules are suspended and the resolution is placed upon its immediate passage.

Passes first reading.

Rules suspended.

Passes second and third readings and ordered sent to Senate without engrossment.

On motion of Mr. Moore of Wilson the resolution is ordered spread upon the Journal.

A JOINT RESOLUTION EXPRESSING THE THANKS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA TO THE PEOPLE OF CRAVEN COUNTY AND THE CITY OF NEW BERN FOR THEIR COURTESY AND HOSPITALITY TO THE MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY ASSEMBLED IN SESSION IN THE CITY OF NEW BERN, THE HISTORICAL HOME AND MEETING PLACE OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

WHEREAS, by virtue of S. R. 339, introduced by Senators Larkins, Hicks and Rankin, and H. R. 602, introduced by Representative Hardison, which duly passed both houses of the General Assembly, it was provided that the General Assembly of North Carolina would, on Wednesday, March 14th, 1951, hold a regular session of said General Assembly in the City of New Bern, the historical home and meeting place of the General Assembly of North Carolina; and

WHEREAS, it is proper that some of the history of Craven County and the City of New Bern, as well as the acts and deeds of its illustrious men and statesmen should again be remembered and called to the attention of the people of the State, and to that end, it is hereby recited that: the voters of Craven County, one of the original precincts, and of the borough Town of New Bern, have sent to the General Assembly in the Colonial period and since our independence, some of the most illustrious men who have distinguished the legislative bodies of North Carolina; and

WHEREAS, after the Lords Proprietors transferred their interests in Carolina to the Crown in 1728, and before New Bern became the regular seat of government, the General Assembly first met in New Bern 6 March, 1738. Here in 1739, Sir Richard Everard, son of the late Governor, and fifteen other members of the Commons charged Chief Justice William Smith of high crime and misdemeanors. Governor Burrington wrote that Smith was "the jest and scorn of the men who perverted him", "a silly, rash boy, a busy fool and an egregrious sot", "ungrateful, perfidious scoundrel, and as much wanting in truth as understanding". While Smith was in England, Burrington appointed Daniel Hanmer who was ousted by Smith and imprisoned for perjury, and Burrington was succeeded by Governor Gabriel Johnston; and

WHEREAS, the General Assembly fixed New Bern as the seat of Government in 1746, and the town thereby took the place of Westminster.

All writs, plaints and process were to be commenced in the Supreme or General Court in New Bern, and all pleadings and proceedings thereon were to be carried on until the case was at issue, and then the Court issued writs of nisi prius and subpoenas for witnesses to attend at the proper places. After 1745, the General Assembly usually met in New Bern, although some sessions were held in Wilmington, and once, in 1752, in Bathtown; and

WHEREAS, the Provincial Congress which assembled in New Bern 25 August, 1774, was the first assemblage of representatives of the people independent of Royal authority. It was the first body of its kind to meet in America. The following year on 8 April, 1775, Governor Josiah Martin by proclamation dissolved the General Assembly at New Bern and thus ended forever in North Carolina legislative action under the Royal Government; and

WHEREAS, the Congress having met in Halifax 17 December, 1776, for the purpose of establishing a Constitution or form of Government for the State, the first General Assembly was begun and held at New Bern 8 April, 1777, in the first year of the Independence of the State, and second anniversary of the end of Royal rule, and Abner Nash of New Bern was elected Speaker of the House of Commons. In 1779, he was Speaker of the Senate in the session held in Halifax. In the session of 1784 at New Bern, William Blount was Speaker of Commons, and in 1785 at New Bern, Richard Dobbs Spaight was Speaker of Commons. Both Blount and Spaight were residents of Craven County and both were members of the convention in Philadelphia in 1787 to form the Constitution of the United States, and their names are signed to that document. Spaight was the first native son to become Governor of North Carolina, and his son, Richard Dobbs Spaight, our Governor in 1835, was the last Governor elected by the General Assembly. He served in fourteen sessions of the General Assembly, thirteen in the Senate and one in the House; and

WHEREAS, John Sitgreaves of New Bern was speaker of the Commons in 1787. Later he was Judge of the United States Court for the District of North Carolina. In 1808 William Gaston, a resident of New Bern, was elected Speaker of the Commons. Six times he was sent to the House and four times to the Senate. He was prominent in the Convention of 1835, and became, as a member of our Supreme Court, one of the great judges of America; and

WHEREAS, among other outstanding men from Craven or the borough of New Bern in the General Assembly were James Coor, Speaker of Senate in 1786, who served thirteen sessions; John Stanley, first orator of the State, who served eleven terms; Francis X. Martin, one of the great American lawyers, Chief Justice of Louisiana, and historian; Frederick Nash, son of Abner Nash and Justice of the Supreme Court; John H. Bryan, lawyer and member of Congress; M. E. Manly, the last to represent the Town of New Bern, and Justice of the Supreme Court; George E. Badger, United States Senator and member of President's Cabinet; Francis L. Hawks, noted divine and historian of North Carolina and of the Episcopal Church; and

WHEREAS, Judge Owen H. Guion was a member of the House in 1903, and in 1905 when he was elected Speaker; and more recently David L. Ward, son of the eloquent Judge D. L. Ward who was in the Senate in 1905, was Craven's representative in 1935 and in 1937, and in 1939 when he was chosen Speaker of the House, he being at the age of thirty-five, the youngest Speaker of the House. He thereafter served as representative in the sessions of 1941 and 1943, and as Senator in the sessions of 1945 and 1947 and 1949. Craven's present representative, Burl G. Hardison, first served as a member in 1945, and has by general consent been returned as a member of the sessions of 1947, 1949 and 1951; and

WHEREAS, the Honorable John D. Larkins of Jones County, a county belonging to the same senatorial district in which is included Craven County, has served in the General Assembly of North Carolina in the Senate for the sessions of 1937, 1939, 1941, 1943, 1949, and is now serving during the present session of 1951; and in addition thereto, the Honorable Carl T. Hicks from Greene County, a county belonging to the same senatorial district in which is included Craven County, is now serving his first term in the Senate of the General Assembly of North Carolina, and both Senators have given and are now giving distinguished public service; and

WHEREAS, by ordinance of the Convention assembled in Hillsboro 21 July, 1788, the plantation of Isaac Hunter in Wake County was fixed as the place of future meetings of the General Assembly, but until preparations were made for accommodation there, sessions were held in Fayetteville or New Bern. The last General Assembly to meet in New Bern commenced 15 November, 1792. It first met in its permanent home in Raleigh 30 December, 1794, in the administration of Governor Richard D. Spaight; and

WHEREAS, the session of the General Assembly of North Carolina held today in the City of New Bern, the Senate meeting in the City Hall of the City of New Bern, and the House meeting in the County Courthouse of Craven County, the greetings and welcome to the House having been extended and given by the Honorable George W. Ipock, Chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Craven County, and greetings and welcome to the Senate having been extended and given by the Honorable George H. Roberts, Mayor of the City of New Bern, and the members of the General Assembly of North Carolina, their wives and honored guests, desire to give thanks and show their appreciation for the courtesies and kindnesses extended to them at this particular session of said General Assembly; NOW, THEREFORE,

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring:

Section 1. That the members of the General Assembly of North Carolina, and of both houses thereof, in behalf of themselves, their wives and honored guests, do hereby express to the people of Craven County and of the City of New Bern their deep and sincere appreciation and do hereby desire to acknowledge the many and gracious courtesies extended to them, their wives and guests by the people of Craven County and of the City of New Bern, and do hereby in this formal manner acknowledge their obligation to the people of Craven County and of the City of New Bern for the warmhearted reception given to them and recognize with gratitude the entertainment and pleasure that has been afforded the members of the General Assembly, their wives and honored guests, at this session held in the City of New Bern, the former historical home of this legislative body.

Section 2. The General Assembly of North Carolina, at this session now being held, wishes to gratefully acknowledge and recognize and, as well, pay tribute to the people of Craven County and the City of New Bern for their many distinguished sons and citizens who have honored the State of North Carolina with their public services and who have reflected great fame and credit on the people of the State of North Carolina as a whole, as well as the people of their own county and city. The General Assembly of North Carolina, at this session, gratefully recalls some of their many public acts and deeds, including those now present and serving the General Assembly, those living who have heretofore served their State, as well as those who have made their great contribution and who have now passed on.

Section 3. That a copy of this Resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of State to the end that the same be made a part of the official records of the State; that a copy of this Resolution be transmitted to the Honorable George W. Ipock, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners of Craven County, to become a part of the permanent records of Craven County, and to the Honorable George H. Roberts, Mayor of the City of New Bern, to become a part of the permanent records of the City of New Bern.

Section 4. This Resolution shall be in force and effect from and after its adoption.

SPECIAL MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER
March 21, 1951

Mr. Speaker:

It is ordered that a message be sent to the House of Representatives with the information that the Senate has failed to concur in House Amendment to S. B. 188, entitled "a bill to be entitled An act to rewrite Article 19A of Chapter 130 of the General Statutes relating to the prevention of the spread of tuberculosis," and requests a conference thereon. To this end the President has appointed as conferees on the part of the Senate, Senators Carlyle and Jones of Pitt to act with a like committee on the part of the House to the end that the differences existing between the two bodies may be adjusted.

Respectfully,

S. RAY BYERLY, Principal Clerk.

Pursuant to the above message of non-concurrence Mr. Speaker appoints as conferees on the part of the House Messrs. Fountain, Royster and Hewlett and the Senate is so notified.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following message is received from the Governor and is ordered spread upon the Journal:

LEGISLATION FOR BETTER ENFORCEMENT OF PROHIBITION LAWS

SPECIAL MESSAGE

March 27, 1951

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and Members of the General Assembly:

I have the honor of transmitting herewith to the members of your respective legislative bodies the report of a special committee which has made a study of the enforcement of Prohibition Laws and has prepared accompanying legislation designed to effect better enforcement of such laws in our State.

This special committee was appointed by me at the request of North Carolina Law Enforcement Officers, who met here on October 12, 1949, to discuss ways and means of combating the illicit liquor traffic in this State. Law Enforcement Officers from practically every section of North Carolina attended this meeting, which was called by me at the suggestion of Law Enforcement Officers and other citizens interested in better enforcement of laws dealing with the illicit traffic in alcoholic beverages.

The group unanimously adopted a resolution recommending that the Governor appoint a committee from the various law enforcement agencies, state and local, and including competent laymen to study the law enforcement situation and to make appropriate recommendations for legislation to be proposed to the 1951 General Assembly.

This report I now transmit to the House and Senate at the request of the special Committee to Recommend Legislation For The Better Enforcement of Prohibition Laws. Heading the committee as Chairman is Honorable Henry L. Stevens, Jr., of Warsaw, Judge of Superior Court. It is my opinion that Judge Stevens and his fine committee has done an excellent job and that the accompanying bills designed to carry out their recommendations have considerable merit and deserve careful consideration by the Honorable Members of the North Carolina Senate and House.

We all know that there is considerable sentiment among the best citizens of our State for more effective legislation to curb illicit liquor traffic in North Carolina. This feeling is not confined to the so-called Drys in our State, but is shared by the so-called Wet element, which favors legal control of alcoholic beverages. In short, the finest elements of our citizenship are united in being extremely interested in the passage of legislation which will effectively tighten law enforcement as it pertains to the illicit traffic in alcoholic beverages.

While the report and the proposed legislation were not prepared by the administration, I consider it my duty to state my emphatic belief in the merits of the bills and to give them my wholehearted support as a North Carolinian interested in the general welfare of the State and its citizens.

Therefore, it gives me pleasure to transmit to your Honorable Members, as requested by Judge Stevens and his splendid committee, this important and well-prepared report. I respectfully urge this General Assembly to give serious consideration both to the report and to legislation proposed therein.

W. KERR SCOTT, Governor

CONFERENCE REPORT

April 11, 1951

HONORABLE H. P. TAYLOR
President of the Senate

HONORABLE FRANK TAYLOR, Speaker
House of Representatives

Gentlemen:

The conferees appointed on behalf of the House and Senate to consider the amendments to the bills relating to Brunswick County, Tyrrell County and Haywood County, the amendments being made to H. B. 800, being the regular bill to name the Boards of Education of the several counties of the State, having met with the Senators and Representatives from the above-mentioned counties, and having held a public hearing on the amendments sent forward by the Representative from Haywood County, and after careful consideration of the matters in difference between the parties and their agreements made in the cases of Brunswick County and Tyrrell County, your Conference Committee respectfully reports as follows:

1. Brunswick County — The Senator and Representative from Brunswick County, having signed a consent agreement which was filed with the Chairman of the Conference Committee and their agreement is adopted by the Conference Committee, which is as follows: That the amendment for Brunswick County, submitted by Senator Bunn Frink, to H. B. 800 be not approved and in accordance with agreement of Senator Frink and Representative Mintz, Jr., the following are named on the Board of Education of Brunswick County:

Thomas St. George	4 years
G. Kenny Lewis	4 years
Dr. Malcolm H. Rourk	4 years
Herbert Long	2 years
J. Worth Stanley	2 years

2. Tyrrell County — That the Conference Committee was delivered a signed agreement by the Senator and Representative from the district, Hugh G. Horton and Lewis L. Combs, in which they recommended certain persons to be named on the Board of Education of Tyrrell County and the Conference Committee has adopted their agreement as follows: R. L. Spencer, Julian Swain, Otis B. Cahoon have and are hereby named as members of the Tyrrell County Board of Education, each for a term of two years.

3. Haywood County — The Conference Committee held a public hearing April 6, 1951, on the amendment to the Haywod County bill placed therein by Senator Medford of Haywood County, and after hearing parties present, the Committee finds the following facts:

That at the last Democratic Primary in Haywood County, three persons, namely, J. Letch Worley, James W. Killian and Coleman R. Francis, were nominated for the Board of Education for Haywood County in accordance with the Local Act of 1925 relative to the said county, which provided that the Board of Education of said county should be three in number and these names were duly certified to the Superintendent of Public Instruction of North Carolina and placed in the Omnibus Bill of the Boards of Education.

That when the bill was presented to the House, the names of Jarvis R. Caldwell and Cauley Rogers were added to H. B. 800, by Representative Yates of Haywood County, and the bill passed the House with these additional names inserted therein.

That when the bill came to the Senate, the last two names were stricken off by an amendment of Senator Medford in accordance with the Local Act applying to said county.

The Conference Committee further finds as a fact that the said Jarvis R. Caldwell and Cauley Rogers have not been voted on by the people of Haywood County; and after Mr. Yates announced that he was adding two additional names to the Board of Eduction of Haywood County, the Democratic Executive Committee of Haywood County met after due notice to all members and passed a resolution, requesting that the Board of Education be left at three members for the present term; but that a law be passed providing for the election of a five-member Board of Education to be voted on in the next primary election in Haywood County, and that the said Board of Education of said County be set up in districts so that all sections of the county would be certain of representation on the Board of Education.

This Committee meeting was held on March 17, at Waynesville, and the Conference Committee had a copy of the resolution passed by said Democratic Executive Committee.

The Conference Committee further finds as a fact, that Senator Medford, of Haywood County, has introduced and secured the passage by the Senate of a bill providing for five members of the Board of Education of Haywood County, the members to be voted on in the next primary election held therein in 1952, in accordance with the resolution adopted by the Democratic Executive Committee of said county.

The conferees on the part of the House and Senate, after careful study of the facts, the law as it now applies to Haywood County, and the action of the Democratic Executive Committee of said county, do recommend that the House concur in the Senate amendment offered to the Omnibus Bill by Senator Medford eliminating the names Jarvis R. Caldwell and Cauley Rogers; and that those persons heretofore certified as being nominated in the primary of Haywood County in 1950 as members of the Board of Education of said county, namely, J. Letch Worley, James W. Killian and Coleman R. Francis, who were named as members of the Board of Education pursuant to their election for a term of two years, be and they shall constitute the members of the Board of Education of Haywood County for a term of two years.

Respectfully submitted,

Conferees on the part of the Senate
Rivers D. Johnson
J. C. Eagles, Jr.

Conferees on the part of the House
R. M. Carr
Kerr Craige Ramsay
R. L. Whitmire

On motion of Mr. Carr the conference report is adopted.

COMMITTEE REPORT

SUB-COMMITTEE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE, HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, 1951 SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The subcommittee appointed by the Chairman of the Finance Committee to consider H. B. 704 and render report thereon, having considered said bill and having conducted public hearings and fully investigated the need, therefore respectfully reports to the Finance Committee as follows:

1. That in the course of public hearings duly held by said sub-committee, evidence was submitted to the sub-committee tending to show that the following conditions existed in Madison County:

(a) That the County of Madison levies a low ad valorem tax rate of $1.20 per $100.00 valuation and that the average tax assessment of real property in Madison County is less than one-fifth of the market value of such property and that as a result of said low assessment and low rate, the taxes levied by the County of Madison for public services are substantially lower than those levied by any other county in the State.

(b) That the County of Madison has on hand or on deposit to its credit cash assets sufficient to retire all county indebtedness.

(c) That the County of Madison is the situs of a healthy agricultural economy which returns to its people a conservatively high average income.

(d) That in spite of the fact that the County is to all intents and purposes out of debt and contains great wealth of real personal property, it is far behind the other counties of North Carolina in the development and expansion of its public services, particularly in that its public school plants, facilities and services, its programs of public welfare, aid to the indigent and health programs do not fulfill the needs of residents of the County and do not reasonably correspond with the capacity of the County to serve its people.

(e) That the foregoing conditions exist in Madison County in spite of the fact that by means of State and Federal aid and assistance a sound program of public service could be carried out therein at small cost to the taxpayers of Madison County.

(f) That it is in the best interest of the people of Madison County to have a Sinking Fund Commission or other agency established in the County for the purpose of assuring to the people of the County that the necessary public welfare services and educational opportunities are provided.

2. From the evidence submitted in the course of the foregoing hearings and as a result of its other investigations, the sub-committee concluded:

(a) That substantially all of the conditions herein above complained of do exist in Madison County.

(b) That the County under its present leadership has failed to take advantage of the assistance available to it from State and Federal agencies to meet the needs of its people in the fields of education and public welfare.

(c) That the taxes levied in Madison County as related to the taxable wealth of the County are unreasonably and disproportionately low and represent a failure on the part of the County to apply a proper portion of its wealth to education and public welfare.

(d) That the foregoing facts should be called to the attention of the Board of Commissioners of Madison County to the end that said Board may undertake a program of expanding educational opportunities and public welfare services in Madison County.

(e) That in the event the Board of Commissioners fails to commence such program and continues its present policies with reference to education and public welfare in Madison County, that the 1953 Session of the General Assembly should undertake to pass legislation calculated to improve the conditions existing in Madison County.

3. The sub-committee having carefully studied H. B. 704 and concluded that the bill in its present form should not pass, in view of the fact that its provisions are not sufficiently complete to provide an adequate guide for the operation of a Sinking Fund Commission and in view of the further fact that a Sinking Fund Commission drawn from the membership of a single political party is not the best method of correcting the situation existing in Madison County. Therefore, while the sub-committee recognizes the need of some legislation to correct the situation existing in Madison County and while the sub-committee believes that the situation can be corrected by proper legislation, it recommends to the Finance Committee that H. B. 704 do not pass.

The sub-committee requests that a copy of this report be printed in the Journal to the end that the 1953 Session of the General Assembly may have a record of the sub-committee's findings and recommendations to the end that should the situation in Madison County not be improved during the current biennium, some effective legislation may be passed in the 1953 Session of the General Assembly to improve conditions existing in Madison County in the fields of education and public welfare.

STATEMENT OF MEMBER

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE NORTH CAROLINA GENERAL ASSEMBLY

I am, as of this date, requesting permission from the House to withdraw my local H. B. 704 which is captioned as to reactivate a sinking fund commission for Madison County.

The sole purpose of this bill was to give a piece of needed legislation for the general welfare of our entire citizenry in Madison County. The bill, while harsh in its origin and beginning, would have stripped the County Commissioners of much of their authority in handling the finances of our County; only in that it would have required the sanction and signing of all checks drawn by the County for any reason.

Since the introduction of this bill I feel that I have been victimized and elaborately editorialized by the Press concerning this bill. I want to assure the General Assembly and the public as a whole, that at no time did any member of the press or editorial department inquire or ask for my reasons for introducing this bill. I do not feel that their dastardly attack on the bill was justified in either the Asheville Citizen or Asheville Times, considering neither of the papers made any effort in the world to find out what conditions are in Madison County and what brought about the intention or aim of the bill.

Again I say to you and the public, I still feel and believe that there is something that needs to be done in Madison County for the general welfare of our boys and girls, the schools, and the welfare set-up when I state to you that there are six high schools in Madison County, which is largely agricultural, and in these six schools there are only two agricultural teachers. By all that is right and fair, there should be one in each school, or six in number. There is no manual training department in any school in Madison County. There is no provision for any State aid project on public education and all of our school buildings now need repairs and overhauling. In fact, some of them are in very, very poor condition.

It is a known fact that since 1946, the Board of Education has requested on budgets from the County Commissioners the sum total of $510,000.00 for school welfare and repairs of buildings. During that time the County Commissioners granted $110,000, and too I have served personally on the County Board of Welfare for some fifteen years and I submit herewith a statement showing that the budget of the Welfare Department in Madison County has been reduced every year from $2,000 to $12,000. Now, in view of the fact that the State and Government gave to Madison County seven dollars for every one dollar put into the welfare work, I ask if it would be unreasonable to compel the County Commissioners to take advantage of this as an investment rather than to run from it and then claim that they gave all the Welfare Department asks.

I submit herewith a statement from the State Welfare Office in Raleigh to verify the foregoing statement:

MADISON COUNTY BUDGETS FOR OLD AGE ASSISTANCE, AID TO DEPENDENT CHILDREN, AND ADMINISTRATION
1946-47—1950-51

	Amount Requested By County Board of Public Welfare	Amount Approved By Board of County Commissioners	Difference
1946-47	$28,412	$28,412
1947-48	36,084	30,492	$ 5,592
1948-49	40,016	26,381	13,635
1949-50	47,652	45,250	2,402
1950-51	64,960	59,517	5,443

There exists a very marked tax assessment inequity in Madison County in that property values for many of our citizens of both political parties are entirely too low and the tax rate is now the lowest of any county in the State. It is true the County is out of debt, but I feel and know that our people could have things like other counties have if the officials would get a vision of our needs and raise taxes, both assessments and rates, so that they could have money to do things with. We have no industry or manufacturing plants, but we do have a people as noble as any on earth; wonderful, loyal and true to their beliefs and if given a chance, would love to have our county; schools, roads, county officials and employees be given a living wage and an up-to-date school system for our boys and girls, but you cannot have these things without money to support them.

I have finally gotten through a bill creating a Jury Commission in Madison County that will, I hope, solve the problem and complaints of those who operate courts that we are guilty of having handpicked juries in Madison County.

I want to assure the General Assembly that I have had no ulterior motive in my mind in these bills. I have not been unduly influenced by anyone concerning the bills; I have just lived among the people of this County for a period of forty years. I feel that I know the conditions there better than folks who stand back and look on.

I, therefore, Mr. Speaker, have tried herewith to set forth my reasons for introducing this sinking fund bill. I am withdrawing it and at the request of the Sub-Committee appointed by the Finance Committee am offering the Sub-Committee's Report of their findings after they had had a well-rounded hearing from all concerned about this bill.

I should like, Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen, to have this notice or statement of mine, together with the reports hereto attached, filed in the archives or journal of this 1951 General Assembly so that future posterity can refer to my record in this House at any time they choose.

W. A. SAMS.

On motion of Mr. Uzzell the report and statement are spread upon the Journal.

Pursuant to the above information and similar action previously taken by the House upon motion of Mr. Pou the House concurs in the Senate amendment and the bill is ordered enrolled.

SENATE CHAMBER
Friday, April 13, 1951

Mr. Speaker:

It is ordered that a message be sent to the House of Representatives with the information that the Senate has failed to concur in House Amendment to S. B. No. 114, entitled "a bill to be entitled An act to provide that operators' and chauffeurs' licenses shall not be issued to persons hereafter becoming sixteen (16) years of age who cannot read and write," and requests a conference thereon. To this end the President has appointed as conferees on the part of the Senate, Senators: Powell and Carruthers to act with a like committee on the part of the House to the end that the differences existing between the two bodies may be adjusted.

Respectfully,

S. RAY BYERLY, Principal Clerk

Pursuant to the message of non-concurrence Mr. Speaker Taylor appoints as conferees on the part of the House Messrs. Regan, Barker and Woltz, and the Senate is so notified.

Session 1951

APPENDIX

HOUSE RESOLUTIONS

A RESOLUTION TO BE ENTITLED A RESOLUTION FAVORING THE APPROPRIATION OF SUFFICIENT FUNDS TO PROVIDE THE ESSENTIAL SERVICES WHICH SHOULD BE RENDERED BY THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF THE STATE, AND A SALARY SCHEDULE OF $2200-$3100 AS MINIMUM OBJECTIVES FOR EDUCATION IN THE STATE.

WHEREAS, the State Board of Education has submitted to the General Assembly of North Carolina a budget which would provide the necessary funds with which to operate the public schools of the State for the ensuing biennium in accordance with the constitutional responsibility assumed by the State: NOW, THEREFORE,

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives:

SECTION 1. That this body go on record as favoring the appropriation of sufficient funds to provide the essential services which should be rendered by the public schools of this State, including provision of minimum fuel for proper operation, adequate and safe transportation for the children of the State, continuation of the free textbook program, and to maintain the present salary schedule of $2200-$3100 as minimum objectives for education to be achieved by this General Assembly.

SEC. 2. That the members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of North Carolina pledge to the people of North Carolina and to the children in the public schools of the State our determined efforts to see that a sound and effective program of public education is provided.

SEC. 3. That this Resolution shall become effective upon ratification.

A HOUSE RESOLUTION RELATING TO THE OPERATION OF SCHOOL BUSSES IN CERTAIN COUNTIES IN NORTH CAROLINA.

WHEREAS, in a number of counties of this State, particularly in Western North Carolina, it is dangerous for school busses to be operated by school children now permitted to do so by law due to the hazardous roads over which such busses are required to be operated; and

WHEREAS, in these counties it has been necessary for the local authorities to supplement the allotment made by the State Board of Education for this purpose so as to employ adult and competent bus drivers to perform this duty; NOW, THEREFORE,

Be it Resolved by the House of Representatives:

SECTION 1. The State Board of Education is requested to recognize the conditions herein above set out in the allocation of funds among the several counties of the State for this purpose in order that an undue burden shall not be borne by the counties concerned and that equity might prevail among these several counties.

SEC. 2. It is further resolved that a copy of this Resolution be sent to the State Board of Education.

SEC. 3. This Resolution shall be in full force and effect from and after its ratification.

A RESOLUTION TO DESIGNATE MARCH 1ST OF EACH CALENDAR YEAR AS DOGWOOD DAY AND TO ENCOURAGE THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE TO DEVELOP AN APPRECIATION OF THE STATE FLOWER, AND TO PROMOTE THE PLANTING OF DOGWOOD TREES.

WHEREAS, the Dogwood has been adopted as the official flower of the State of North Carolina by virtue of the provisions of G. S. 145-1, and it is appropriate and proper that some day in the month of each calendar year should be designated as Dogwood Day to the end that there might be fostered and encouraged an appeciation of the State Flower; and

WHEREAS, the purpose of popularizing the State Flower, information on the Dogwood should be disseminated among the people of the State and the children of the public schools, civic groups and patriotic organizations should be encouraged to plant Dogwood trees in State parks, school grounds, along banks of highways and upon approaches and entrances to cities, towns and villages of the State, and said program should be promoted with a view of having Dogwood festivals at some appropriate time in the future: NOW, THEREFORE,

Be it Resolved by the House of Representatives:

SECTION 1. The General Assembly of North Carolina, by this Resolution, does hereby fix, declare and designate the first day of March of each calendar year as Dogwood Day.

SEC. 2. The Department of Conservation and Development is authorized, empowered and directed, by any and all suitable means, to call to the attention of the people of the State that the Dogwood is the State Flower and to popularize and disseminate information to the end that an appreciation of the State Flower shall be encouraged in the minds of the people of the State. The Department of Conservation and Development shall also promote, foster and encourage the people of the State, as well as school children, civic groups, patriotic societies and related organizations to plant Dogwood trees on school grounds, along the banks of highways and along the approaches to cities, towns and communities and shall formulate plans for the future to the end that Dogwood festivals may be organized and promoted in the State. The Department of Conservation and Development is authorized, empowered and directed to send out pamphlets, tracts and any literature that may be compiled on this subject for the accomplishment of the purposes which are the subject of this Resolution.

SEC. 3. This Resolution shall become effective upon its adoption.

The Semi-Centennial of Governor Aycock's Inauguration

PROCEEDINGS IN A JOINT SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Monday, January 15, 1951.

The President of the Senate presided.

Dr. J. Y. Joyner, of La Grange, North Carolina, who served as State Superintendent of Public Instruction during the Administration of Governor Charles Brantley Aycock, and is the only surviving member of the Aycock Administration, offered the following prayer:

"Our Heavenly Father, hallowed be Thy name. We invoke Thy blessing upon this meeting, upon all the people here assembled and represented. We thank Thee that the Christian grace of gratitude still lives in the hearts of North Carolinians as evidenced by this meeting, called by the representatives of all the people of the State to honor the memory of one of Thy chosen and anointed leaders who served his beloved State and people so unselfishly and well in the great cause of universal education in an hour of great need.

As we listen to the story of the immortal service of Charles B. Aycock as told by another of the State's great sons, inspire each of us to emulate his shining example of unselfish service and sacrifice in this hour when they are needed as never before in the State, the Nation, and the world.

Dear Lord, forgive our grief for one removed, Thy creature, our friend, whom we loved, and grant that "when for us the sunset gates unbar"—

> We shall see him waiting stand
> And white against the evening star
> The welcome of his beckoning hand.

"Lord God of Hosts be with us yet, lest we forget," and in Thy wisdom make us wise. "Lead kindly Light, amid the encircling gloom, the night is dark and we are far from home"—far from peace on earth, good will toward men—lead Thou us on.

Yet the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth, keeping watch above His own. All shall yet be well with the world. Amen.

The Reading Clerk of the House of Representatives read the following Resolution:

"WHEREAS, This year is the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Inauguration of North Carolina's great and beloved educational former Governor, Charles Brantley Aycock, and it is deemed fitting and proper that events in his illustrious career, particularly his leadership in stimulating public education in this State, should be commemorated on this occasion: NOW THEREFORE, Be it resolved by the House of Representatives, Senate concurring:

SECTION 1. That the House of Representatives and the Senate meet in Joint Session at 8:30 o'clock p.m., on Monday, January 15, 1951, in the Hall of the House for the purpose of commemorating the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Inauguration of North Carolina's distinguished son and former Governor, Charles Brantley Aycock.

SECTION 2. That United States Senator Clyde R. Hoey, former Governor of North Carolina, shall be invited to address the Joint Session and make the memorial address honoring Former Governor Charles Brantley Aycock. That a committee of five, composed of three members of the House of Representatives and two members of the Senate shall be appointed by the Speaker of the House and President of the Senate to extend the invitation to Senator Hoey to address this Joint Session and to make other necessary arrangements for this meeting.

SECTION 3. This Resolution shall become effective upon its ratification."

The Presiding Officer recognized the descendants of Governor Aycock who attended the Ceremonies, among whom were:

Major and Mrs. L. P. McLendon, Greensboro, N. C.

Col. and Mrs. Charles B. Aycock, 4810 Sedgwick N. W., Washington, D. C.

Mr. John Lee Aycock, 1205 Lee St., Evanston, Ill.

Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Poe, Longview Gardens, Raleigh, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Daniels Aycock, 2108 Lennox Road, Richmond, Va.

Mrs. William B. Aycock, Raleigh, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Aycock, Jr., Raleigh, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. James McKee, Raleigh, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Poe, Raleigh, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Poe, Raleigh, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith, Jr., 923 St. Mary's St., Raleigh, N. C.

Miss Cora Lee Aycock, 1205 Lee St., Evanston, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. McLendon, Jr., 2301 W. Market St., Greensboro, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aycock McLendon, 2301 W. Market Street, Greensboro, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Atkinson, 2301 W. Market St., Greensboro, N. C.

Mr. William W. McLendon, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C.

Mr. John McLendon, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C.

The Presiding Officer recognized several distinguished guests, including Dr. B. B. Dougherty, President of Appalachian State Teachers College, the only surviving head of a North Carolina college who fought side by side with Governor Aycock and Dr. Joyner in their great "Universal Education" campaign, and who, like Dr. Joyner, still lives to serve the State by his ripened wisdom, his sterling character, and passionate love of North Carolina.

The Presiding Officer expressed pleasure that all living former governors of North Carolina were present, and recognized former Governor Cameron Morrison, who stated that he would withhold any remarks for the reason that he did not choose to trespass upon the time of the principal speaker of the occasion.

The Presiding Officer then recognized Former Governor R. Gregg Cherry, who addressed the Joint Session as follows:

GOVERNOR CHERRY'S REMARKS

"Mr. President and Mr. Speaker:

"I am happy to have a part in the program of this occasion. It is appropriate that the 1951 General Assembly of North Carolina should gather in joint session to pay tribute to Governor Charles B. Aycock upon the occasion of the Fiftieth Anniversary of his Inauguration as Governor of North Carolina.

"Over many years Governor Aycock has been my chief ideal of a true North Carolina statesman.

"I have read with profit all the printed records of everything he wrote or spoke that I could find; and have read with interest the comments, books and published articles of his host of admirers. North Carolina, and in particular, the educational forces of North Carolina are truly indebted to Governor Aycock. It is a pleasure to join with his relatives and friends in paying a just tribute to his memory and achievements which has resulted in so many blessings to our citizenship.

"But—Mr. President, since up to this time Governor Cameron Morrison has agreed that in view of the allotted time to our guest speaker, Senator Clyde R. Hoey, it would not be appropriate for him to make a speech at this time, I am persuaded to take my seat for, Mr. President, any time my dear and esteemed friend, Governor Cameron Morrison, refuses an opportunity to make a speech, and I can get a contract from Senator Hoey that during his speech he will not quote the Lord's Prayer or the Twenty-third Psalm, I think it time for me to take my seat."

(The Presiding Officer later again recognized Former Governor Morrison, whose extemporaneous remarks were received with great appreciation and he was asked to furnish a copy for publication herewith, but the copy had not been received at the time this volume went to press.)

The Presiding Officer made the observation that among the specially invited guests of the occasion was the Honorable Lindsay C. Warren, Comptroller General of The United States, who was a devoted friend and admirer of Governor Charles Brantley Aycock; that General Warren actively sponsored the placing of the statue of Governor Aycock in Statuary Hall in the National Capitol Building in Washington; that in the absence of General Warren, the Clerk was requested to read and insert in the Record a letter that had been received from him as follows:

Comptroller General of the United States
Washington 25

January 12, 1951.

HONORABLE H. P. TAYLOR,
President of the Senate,
Raleigh, North Carolina.

Dear Mr. President:

I appreciate so much your letter of January 11 telling me that I am invited as a special guest to attend the exercises when the General Assembly of North Carolina will meet in joint session on January 15 in commemoration of the Inauguration of Charles Brantley Aycock as Governor of North Carolina on January 14, 1901. It is with great regret that I am unable to be in Raleigh at that time.

When Charles Brantley Aycock heard the cry of his people and saw the perils of his government, he threw the whole weight of his great mentality, his indomitable spirit and his majestic courage into the struggle. By the sheer power of his personality, by the force and eloquence of all pervading sincerity and sweetness and simplicity of his soul—speaking a language all could understand—he led a revolution that gave his people a rebirth, and laid securely the foundation of the new order that has carried the state to the highest peaks of her sisterhood in the nation.

North Carolina will always keep his name green.

With high esteem.

Sincerely,

LINDSAY C. WARREN.

The Presiding Officer presented His Excellency, the Honorable W. Kerr Scott, Governor of North Carolina, who in turn presented the Senior United States Senator from North Carolina, the Honorable Clyde R. Hoey, with the following remarks:

'We have met here tonight to honor a great Governor of North Carolina, one of the greatest of all in the long line of Governors. It is not my function at this time to tell of my own admiration for Governor Aycock and the unparalleled influence he has had on the history of North Carolina these last fifty years. Governor Aycock was a Governor from Eastern North Carolina who might soon have represented North Carolina in the United States Senate if he had lived. To pay tribute to him tonight the General Assembly has thought it would be extremely fitting to have for that purpose a former Governor of North Carolina from the western part of the state who, after his service as Governor, was sent to the United States Senate from North Carolina. I present to you the Honorable Clyde R. Hoey."

United States Senator Clyde R. Hoey then delivered his address which appears on page 707.

The Presiding Officer then recognized State Senator Rivers D. Johnson, who moved that as a further mark of respect to the memory of Charles Brantley Aycock the Joint Session do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to, and accordingly the Joint Session was dissolved.

Senator Clyde R. Hoey's Tribute to Charles Brantley Aycock

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I count it a high privilege to be permitted to participate in the exercises commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the inauguration of Charles Brantley Aycock as Governor of North Carolina. It was my privilege to serve as a member of the House of Representatives during the first half of his administration, and to be a member of the State Senate during the last half of his term of service.

A TURNING POINT IN HISTORY

The administration of Governor Aycock has been termed the turning point in the history and destiny of North Carolina. His election on August 2, 1900, followed a campaign of tremendous import to the State. The Legislature of 1899 had submitted to the State a Constitutional Amendment providing educational qualification for voters, and this amendment was to be voted upon at the time of the election of all state officials. By reason of the great feeling and stress of circumstances at that time, the Legislature of 1899 deemed it advisable to separate the Constitutional Amendment election and the election of state officials from the time of the general election of Federal officials. The manifest purpose of this was to avoid any possibility of the Federal Government attempting to interfere with the election processes in North Carolina.

The purpose and result of the adoption of the Constitutional Amendment was to eliminate the bulk of Negro voters because of their lack of educational qualifications, and thus make secure the protection of the people of the State from the type and character of government which immediately preceded the inauguration of Governor Aycock on January 15, 1901. All of that is past history now.

It was manifest that Charles Brantley Aycock had come to the kingdom for such a time as this. The hour called for a great man of powerful personality—a fair and just man, a born leader and a trusted public servant. All these were combined in the man whose memory we honor tonight.

AYCOCK'S EARLY YEARS

Born in the rural section of Wayne County, North Carolina, young Aycock was blessed with noble parentage. His father had served as clerk of the superior court of Wayne County for eight years, and likewise was a member of the State Senate of North Carolina during the Reconstruction Days and served under Zebulon Vance who was Governor during that period. Governor Aycock's mother was a woman of strong character and great determination and unusual ability. Aycock was the youngest of ten children.

Charles Brantley Aycock attracted attention early and was a marked man when he graduated with distinction from the University of North Carolina. Among his contemporaries in college were men like Dr. J. Y.

Joyner, Edwin Anderson Alderman, the Winstons—Judge Robert W. and Francis D., Locke Craig, and many other men who were destined to leave their imprint on the history of North Carolina, and to greatly influence the life of the State.

The first public office held by Charles Brantley Aycock was county superintendent of schools in Wayne County, after which he engaged in the practice of law, and later became presidential elector in his district and then presidential elector for the State at large when Grover Cleveland was elected President in 1892, after which Aycock was appointed United States Attorney for the Eastern District of North Carolina and served with great distinction.

HIS CAMPAIGNS OF 1898 AND 1900

Aycock made a memorable campaign in 1898 when the Democratic Party was undertaking to redeem the state from the hands of the Populists and the Republicans who had succeeded in electing the General Assembly in 1894 and later electing the Governor in 1896. That campaign was successful in that the Democrats in 1898 won the State, and Aycock in that campaign made certain his own uncontested nomination for Governor in 1900 as the Democratic candidate. The older people of the State still remember and discuss with enthusiasm the marvelous speeches which Aycock made from one end of the state to the other. In them he completely captured the imagination and the hearts of the people of North Carolina, which paved the way for his triumphant election on August 2, 1900.

Inaugurated Governor on January 15, 1901, Governor Aycock entered upon the duties of his office with great enthusiasm and with characteristic devotion to the cause which he had made paramount in his campaign, to-wit, the education of all the people and providing of greater opportunities for the youth of the State. During his term as Governor he grew in wisdom and in stature and continued to hold the love and affection of the people of North Carolina as no man preceding him had been able to do since the days of Zebulon Baird Vance, the beloved "War Governor" of North Carolina.

STATE SUPPORT OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The record of the service and achievements of Governor Aycock marked a distinct advance in the life and history of North Carolina. The state has never been the same since Aycock became Governor and gave us the great inspiration of his leadership and the driving power and force of his personality. The first appropriation for the public schools (which was a modest one hundred thousand dollars) out of the treasury of the state of North Carolina, might be considered a small beginning, but it was the signal of a new approach to the whole problem of better public schools in North Carolina. It represented a realization of the fact that preventable ignorance anywhere in the Commonwealth was a matter of concern not only to the counties and localities but to the state itself. As a result of this small beginning, there was destined to be created in North Carolina a state-provided "equalizing fund" which reached the large total of $6,000,000 by 1930 and was used to lengthen the terms of the public schools in the less wealthy counties of North Carolina and to provide comparable educational opportunities in the public school system for the children in all the counties of the state. Under this equalization system, 67 counties of North Carolina received aid from the state while the other 33 had sufficient wealth and population to enable them to provide for their own public school necessities.

Aycock's educational campaign and his advocacy of the right of every child to have an opportunity for an education had borne such abundant fruit that the state later assumed the expense for the conduct of the six months constitutionally provided school term in North Carolina, and still later the Legislature increased it to eight months, then nine months, and the State assumed the expense and the burden of conducting the whole nine months term. Of course the various communities of the state have supplemented that fund in increasing the facilities of the school system, but our present public school system stands as a monument to the daring and heroic efforts of Charles Brantley Aycock and his associates and co-laborers and their successors through the years.

Governor Aycock died dramatically in Birmingham, Alabama, on April 14, 1912, while delivering a great address to the Alabama Educational Association with the word "education" upon his lips in his last expiring breath. The whole state mourned its loss in the passing of its best beloved son, who had already announced that he intended to enter the race for election to the United States Senate in the forthcoming election in 1912. The memory of Aycock is fresh in the minds of all North Carolinians and is cherished by all those who have watched the progress and advancement of the State and have heralded the educational advances which have been accomplished since the beginning of the Aycock regime.

THE CHARACTER OF AYCOCK

Having known Charles Brantley Aycock, it is easy to believe the challenging declaration occurring in the majestic first chapter of Genesis and in its stately passages where it is stated that "God created man in His own image" and marked him with His divine personality. Aycock was a God-made man. He measured up to the full standard set forth by the prophet Micah when he declared that the whole duty of man is "to do justly, love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God." He approximated the high Christian standard laid down by the Apostle James when he wrote that, "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widow in their affliction, and to keep one's self unspotted from the world." Always he worked in the spirit of a peculiarly noble sentence of the late Junius Parker's for which Governor Aycock had expressed intense admiration as follows:

"Power of any sort, whether of wealth or intellect or education, or social position, or accident, brings duty—the duty of truth, the duty of fairness, the duty of courtesy, the duty of sanity; a duty to the weak not to oppress them; a duty to the credulous, not to mislead them; a duty to one's friends, not to flatter or cajole them; a duty to one's enemies, not to malign them; a duty to the rich, not to be a sycophant; a duty to the poor, not to be a demagogue."

It was Aycock's good fortune to have so lived that with Byron he could

"Tell Death, that omnipotent tyrant, to his everlasting face
That he possesses no sting,
And to challenge his sleepless handmaiden, the grave,
And dare proclaim a victory."

Governor Aycock granted more pardons to persons in prison than any of his predecessors, and this was the occasion of some criticism on the part of the public. At this time there was no parole office and no probation system, and therefore the only clemency that came to any individual in prison was by direct pardon from the Governor. Discussing this matter sometime after his retirement and the criticism which had been directed against him because of his free use of the pardoning power, Governor Aycock made it clear that he was not troubled about the pardons which he had granted, but that the matter which gave him concern was that among the large number who had applied for clemency he might have denied freedom to many who deserved it. All that any friend of Governor Aycock could desire for him would be that when he stands before the Judge of All the Earth that there should be meted out to him some measure of the justice and compassion which he so freely granted to the sons and daughters of men.

FULFILLING CAMPAIGN PLEDGES

On an occasion like this it has seemed to me that your speaker could not do better than to repeat in his own words some of the great principles that guided the life of Governor Aycock.

Governor Aycock made many notable utterances in his famous speeches on various topics which he discussed with such eloquence and clarity. He had just turned forty-one when he became Governor, and this is one of the striking passages from his Inaugural Address:

"On a hundred platforms, to half the voters of the state, in the late campaign, I pledged the state, its strength, its heart, its wealth, to universal education. I promised the illiterate poor man bound to a life of toil and struggle and poverty, that life should be brighter for him and the partner of his sorrows and joys. I pledged the wealth of the state to the education of his children. Men of wealth, representatives of great corporations applauded eagerly my declaration. I then realized that the strong desire which dominated me for the uplifting of the whole people moved not only my heart, but was likewise the hope and aspiration of those upon whom fortune had smiled. I had loved the North Carolina people before that time, but I never knew and appreciated the best qualities of many of our citizens until I saw the owners of many thousands as eager for the education of the whole people as I was myself."

In this same Inaugural Address he declared strongly for fair elections and for equal justice under the law and the Constitution for all the people, and then forcefully denounced mob law in this fashion:

"The highest test of a great people is obedience to law and a consequent ability to administer justice. It shall be the earnest aim of my administration to foster good feeling and to enforce law and order throughout the state. The mob has no place in our civilization. . . . I shall strive to be a just Governor of all the people, without regard to party, color or creed. The law will be enforced with impartiality and no man's petition shall go unheard and unconsidered because he differs from me in politics or in color. My obligation is to the state and the state is all her citizens. No man is so high that the law shall not be enforced against him, and no man is so low that it shall not reach down to him to lift him up if may be and set him on his feet again and bid him godspeed to better things."

THE STATE'S DUTY TO THE NEGRO

Although he was elected at the same time the Constitutional Amendment was adopted which deprived the Negroes almost in a body of their right to vote, yet Governor Aycock never lost sight of the fact that we should hold it as our high obligation to be just and fair in our dealing with the Negro, and he expressed this view in the following eloquent passage in his Inaugural Address:

"The white people owe a high duty to the Negro. It was necessary to the safety of the state to base suffrage on capacity to exercise it wisely. This results in excluding a great number of Negroes from the ballot, but their right to life, liberty, property and justice must be even more carefully safeguarded than ever. It is true that a superior race cannot submit to the rule of a weaker race without injury; it is also true in the long years of God that the strong cannot oppress the weak without destruction. I said on April 11, 1900, and I now repeat it as a deep conviction, that 'universal justice is the perpetual decree of Almighty God, and we are entrusted with power not for our good alone, but for the Negro as well. We hold our title to power by tenure of service to God, and if we fail to administer equal and exact justice to the Negro whom we deprive of suffrage, we shall in the fulness of time lose power ourselves, for we must know that the God who is Love trusts no people with authority for the purpose of enabling them to do injustice to the weak.' "

AN IDEAL FOR NORTH CAROLINA

The theme of many of Governor Aycock's speeches was equality for all the people before the law and in the field of opportunity and service. This was forcefully expressed by him in this ideal for North Carolina:

"I would have all our people to believe in the possibilities of North Carolina; in the sterngth of her men, the purity of her women, and their power to accomplish as much as can be done anywhere on earth by any people. I would have them to become dissatisfied with small things; to be anxious for higher and better things; to yearn after real greatness; to seek after knowledge; to do the right thing in order that they may be what they ought. I would have the strong to bear the burdens of the weak and to lift up the weak and make them strong, teaching men everywhere that real strength consists not in serving ourselves, but in doing for others. I see the day coming when this state shall sit down at the common table of the Union an equal sister with all the others gathered there—equal in wealth, equal in high performance, equal in noble ideals. Nothing short of this ought to satisfy us, and to attain this let us ever hope."

HIS FAREWELL TO HIS PEOPLE

In the strength and vigor of a splendid manhood, and in a period of great usefulness to his state and nation, he had yielded to the importunity of his friends throughout the state to become a candidate for the United States Senate and had prepared a great address announcing his candidacy. This address he had with him when he died while making a dramatic appeal for universal education in his speech at Birmingham. There were two paragraphs in this undelivered speech which might be regarded as Charles Brantley Aycock's farewell to the people of the state, and which I wish now to quote in conclusion:

"We have indeed gone far in North Carolina. A recent writer has declared that the progress of a state may be determined by the things which are now done as a matter of course which used to be the subject of debate. Tested by this standard North Carolina has advanced rapidly under Democratic rule. The right of every child to a public school education is no longer a subject of controversy but is acknowledged by everyone. The duty and wisdom of adequate, excellent public roads is not only acknowledged by everybody but has recently been emphasized by the mud through which we have slowly dragged ourselves to the markets of the state. The right of children to be safeguarded in the time of their growth and development against overwork in factories is a right which no one now disputes. The duty of caring for the afflicted, whether due to age or infirmity, has been translated into so beautiful an application and has been performed with such steadfastness as to render one who would now deny it contemptible in the sight of all the people. The holy obligation of unstopping the ears of the deaf and making the blind to see, of making easy for the old soldiers and their widows their descent on the other side of the hill that leads to the Everflowing River, has become the common heritage of us all. The paramount object of the state to obtain peace and quiet and good order to the end that men may quietly work out their own destinies has been rendered emphatic by performance. And no more does anyone, whatever may be his view about the efficacy of prohibition, ever expect to see again the dominance of the barroom and whiskey still in the civic and political life of this great state or ours.

"We stand a-tiptoe on the misty mountain height and see the morning sun make purple the glories of the east. We are entering upon a new day, the day of equality of opportunity, the hour when every man shall be free to work mightily for himself until his soul, filled to satisfaction, shall overflow with a common benefit to mankind, owing no tribute to anyone and bound only to love his fellow man and serve his God as to him may seem best.

"Equal! That is the word! On that word I plant myself and my party—the equal right of every child born on earth to have the opportunity to burgeon out all that there is within him."

CONCLUSION

Governor Aycock was twice married, first to Miss Varina Woodard, who died in 1890, and in 1891 he married her sister, Miss Cora Woodard, who was his gracious companion during his term of service as Governor.

Children were born to each marriage, and they constitute a family of great prominence and usefulness in North Carolina today.

A monument stands in Capitol Square in Raleigh to the memory of Governor Aycock, funds for which were contributed by the children in the public schools of North Carolina, and it is invested with the love and devotion of those whom he served best and loved most. Again, when North Carolina came to select the two men whose statues would be placed in Statuary Hall in the rotunda of the Capitol in Washington, Zebulon Baird Vance and Charles Brantley Aycock became the representatives of North Carolina. These two—Vance and Aycock—typify the best our state has produced. They incarnate the spirit of our Commonwealth and the undying courage and faith of our people.

Tonight as we observe the fiftieth anniversary of the inauguration of Charles B. Aycock as Governor of the Commonwealth of North Carolina, new in spirit and high in hope we bid his memory stand erect—a sovereign among its peers.

Presentation of Portrait of Governor Aycock

PROCEEDINGS IN A JOINT SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT THE UNVEILING OF THE HOWARD CHANDLER CHRISTY PORTRAIT OF CHARLES BRANTLEY AYCOCK

Monday, April 9, 1951.

The President of the Senate presided.

Reverend Broadus E. Jones, D.D., Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Raleigh, North Carolina, offered the following prayer:

"Eternal God, our Father, on this memorable occasion we are grateful to Thee for the great pioneers in the science of human welfare, for the noble souls whose sympathies were as deep as human needs and as wide as humanity, and whose vision of the future lights the way of progress for the unfolding generations. By their sacrificial deeds and courageous struggles "they forgot themselves into immortality" and "left their footprints on the sands of time." Sanctify, we pray Thee, the heritage of their lives to the continuing progress of our great people.

"As we commemorate on this high occasion, by the unveiling of this portrait, one of the most adventurous spirits of the yesteryears, grant that we may dedicate ourselves to the perpetuity of the humanitarian influences which this noble life released, and to the accomplishments which his selfless hands began in the other years. Grant to us a leadership in this great State that will become the living incarnation of his ideals and visions, and through these human instrumentalities consecrated to Thy will, lift our people to higher planes of spiritual dedication and life. And this we pray in the spirit of the greatest of all humanity's benefactors, our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen."

The Presiding Officer requested the Reading Clerk of the House of Representatives to read the following Resolutions:

A JOINT RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING AND PROVIDING FOR A SUITABLE PORTRAIT OF CHARLES BRANTLEY AYCOCK TO BE PLACED IN THE HALL OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES IN THE STATE CAPITOL

WHEREAS, Zebulon Baird Vance and Charles Brantley Aycock are North Carolina's representatives in the Hall of Fame in the National Capitol, and statues of these two outstanding North Carolinians have been provided there; and

WHEREAS, statues of these beloved citizens face one another at ends of the mall on North Carolina's State Capitol grounds; and

WHEREAS, a portrait of Zebulon Baird Vance is now hanging on the West side of the Hall of the House of Representatives in the State Capitol.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring:

Section 1. That the North Carolina State Art Society is hereby authorized and directed to utilize funds which have been or may be tendered it for the purpose to procure the services of a qualified artist for making a portrait of Governor Charles Brantley Aycock of the same general size and characteristics as that of Zebulon Baird Vance, and that the said portrait be hung on the east side of the Hall of the House of Representatives in the State Capitol facing the portrait of Zebulon Baird Vance.

Section 2. That the portrait of George Washington be hung back and over the Speaker's dias where the portrait of Henry Clay now hangs, and that Clay's portrait be delivered to the State Department of Archives and History to be placed elsewhere in the discretion of that State agency.

Section 3. That the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate and two other members of the General Assembly to be named by them serve as a committee to cooperate with the State Art Society in furthering the purposes of this Resolution.

Section 4. That this Resolution shall be in full force and effect from and after its ratification.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified, this the 13th day of March, 1951.

A JOINT RESOLUTION PROVIDING FOR A JOINT SESSION OF THE SENATE AND THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF NORTH CAROLINA FOR THE PURPOSE OF ACCEPTING A PORTRAIT OF THE LATE GOVERNOR CHARLES B. AYCOCK

BE IT RESOLVED by House of Representatives, the Senate concurring:

First, That the membership of the House of Representatives and of the Senate meet in joint session in the Hall of the House of Representatives at 8:30 p.m. on the evening of Monday, April 9, for the purpose of accepting on behalf of the State a portrait of the late honored and beloved Governor Charles B. Aycock.

Second: This Resolution shall become effective upon its adoption.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified this the 9th day of April, 1951.

The Presiding Officer presented the Senator from Duplin County, Honorable Rivers D. Johnson, who had been appointed by the President of the Senate to serve as a member of the Committee to cooperate with the State Art Society to provide for the portrait of former Governor Aycock to be placed in the Hall of the House of Representatives.

Senator Johnson introduced the guest speaker of the occasion as follows:

"Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Governor Scott, Members of the Aycock Family, Gentlemen of the Joint Session of the General Assembly, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"The Speaker of the evening needs no introduction to a North Carolina audience. Scholar, educator, executive, statesman, and ambassador of good will to all people, he is North Carolina's tribute to the Nation and to our other friendly countries of the world.

"Our own Dr. Frank Porter Graham, who will now address you."

Former Senator Dr. Graham then addressed the Joint Session. His remarks in full appearing elsewhere in this volume—see page 717.

Following the address of Dr. Frank Porter Graham, the Presiding Officer recognized two of the grandchildren of Governor Aycock, namely Miss Cora Lee Aycock of Evanston, Ill., who is now a student at Beloit College, and William Woodard McLendon, son of Mayor and Mrs. L. P. McLendon of Greensboro, N. C., who is now a student at the University of North Carolina, and requested them to approach the draped portrait of Governor Charles Brantley Aycock now hanging on the east side of the Hall of the House of Representatives.

The two grandchildren of Governor Aycock then proceed to unveil the portrait amid the continuous applause of a splendid audience that had spontaneously arisen to its feet.

The Presiding Officer presented to the Joint Session "one of North Carolina's most distinguished and beloved sons, a resident of the County of the nativity of former Governor Charles Brantley Aycock, the Honorable W. Frank Taylor, Speaker of the House of Representatives," who addressed the Joint Session as follows:

"Lt. Governor Taylor, Fellow Members of the General Assembly, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"When, early in January, I was accorded the privilege of presiding over the House of Representatives of the 1951 Session of the General Assembly, I was not aware of two events that were destined to take place during this Session of special interest to my county and which would add pleasure in the performance of my duties.

"First, I had not thought that Charles Brantley Aycock, North Carolina's great educational Governor, was inaugurated just fifty years ago and that the fiftieth anniversary of his inauguration would be celebrated during this Session of the General Assembly. In the second place, I had no knowledge of the fact that a portrait of this great Governor would be presented by his family at this time and hung in the Hall of this Legislative Body to serve as an inspiration, not only to the members of this and succeeding General Assemblies, but also as an inspiration to the school children of this State, who for generations to come will visit this Hall and be reminded of his great services to North Carolina in the field of education. This portrait will look down upon them as they view the actions of future General Assemblies.

"Governor Aycock was from Wayne County, which county I have the honor to represent at this time, and I am happy to have the privilege of being here on the fiftieth anniversary of his inauguration and at the time of unveiling his portrait in the Hall of the House of Representatives, over which I have the honor to preside as Speaker.

"I am happy, too, to have the privilege of presenting to this audience another great Governor who has contributed to the progress of education in North Carolina in sponsoring legislation for improving the public school system and also the institutions of higher learning. He will accept this portrait, so generously presented by Governor Aycock's family, in behalf of the State. It is fitting that he do so, as he has long been an admirer of Governor Aycock. It is also significant that his father served as a member of the General Assembly during the administration of Governor Aycock. I am privileged to present to you, at this time, His Excellency, Governor W. Kerr Scott."

His Excellency, the Honorable W. Kerr Scott, Governor of North Carolina, in accepting the Portrait of former Governor Charles Brantley Aycock, addressed the Joint Session as follows:

"It is very appropriate that this portrait of Charles Brantley Aycock, our great Educational Governor, should be placed here on the wall of the House of Representatives. I am happy, as Governor of North Carolina, to accept the portrait in behalf of all the people of the State of North Carolina. Our State owes the Aycock family a debt of gratitude for presenting us his portrait.

"I would like to take this opportunity to say that it will take $80,000,000 to give the minority race equal opportunity—as Aycock would have it—on the grammar and high school levels in our educational system. I am speaking here of providing the physical facilities alone. In the spirit of Aycock, our local leaders should prepare—and early—to meet this challenge. It is far better, I think, that we take this step first ourselves rather than have the decision forced upon us by a court of the land."

The Presiding Officer then recognized Honorable William B. Rodman, Jr., Representative from Beaufort County in the General Assembly of North Carolina, Session of 1951, who had been appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives to serve as a member of the Committee to cooperate with the State Art Society to provide for the portrait of former Governor Aycock to be placed in the Hall of the House of Representatives.

The gentleman from Beaufort moved that as a special mark of respect to the memory of Charles Brantley Aycock, the Joint Session do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to, and accordingly, the Joint Session was dissolved.

Dr. Frank P. Graham's Tribute to Governor Charles B. Aycock

AN ADDRESS TO THE JOINT SESSION OF THE NORTH CAROLINA LEGISLATURE AT THE UNVEILING OF THE HOWARD CHANDLER CHRISTIE PORTRAIT OF CHARLES B. AYCOCK, APRIL 9, 1951, RALEIGH, N. C.,

BY FRANK P. GRAHAM

INTRODUCTION

First of all I wish to express a real sense of inadequacy for the responsibility and a deep sense of gratitude for the invitation of the North Carolina Art Society and the State Legislature to interpret anew the enduring meaning of the life and services of Charles Brantley Aycock. It is good from time to time to recapture even fragmentary glimpses of a man whose influence is as ever fair and as ever young as the hopes of children for whose equal opportunity he gave his life. It is altogether fitting that the portrait of this tribune of the people should be painted by a master, distinguished for his noble portraits, and should be hung in this historic hall, famous as the forum of the representatives of the people of North Carolina. May his father, who, during the war between the States, sat in this hall as a representative of Wayne County, and his mother, whose brow, transmitted to the son, is truly preserved in this portrait, both gather in spirit with us here tonight to share in the commemoration of their son, beloved by his generation above all the sons of North Carolina.

There are certain leaders in the story of our State, who embody in their life and service the meaning of an historic period. With loyalty to the old landmarks, they lay the foundations for the new struggles and hopes toward whose fulfillment the leaders who follow go forward from generation to generation. Such a leader was Charles B. Aycock. His robust heritage was from the rugged pioneer American stock of the early eighteenth century. His democratic idealism is the very stuff of the American dream of the equal opportunity of all children yet unfilled in the middle of the twentieth century.

I. In the Hostorical Succession of the Leadership of the Southern States North Carolina Became a Leader of the Risen South When Aycock Became the Leader of North Carolina.

To catch something of the meaning of the man and his leadership, as we see him come to life again in the frame of this portrait, we must see him in the setting of the age of which he was a gallant and venturesome, kind and simple, inspiring and creative part. The historian characteristically divides our country into sections, our history into periods, and sometimes distinguishes our leaders by regions and eras.

The historians agree that, in the colonial and formative periods of American history, Virginia and Massachusetts, with the cooperation of the original colonies and States, shared a great leadership in colonization, revolution, independence, and federation. George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Patrick Henry, Richard Henry Lee, George Mason, James Madison, John Marshall, and James Monroe have made authentic the primacy of Virginia in the Old South and the pre-eminence of the sons of Virginia in the liberation and organization of the new nation.

William E. Dodd, my old teacher, in his history of the cotton kingdom gives to South Carolina the Southern leadership of the lower South in the middle period. Through the eloquence of Robert Young Hayne, the militant governorship of James Hamilton, the fiery oratory of George McDuffie, and the relentless logic of John C. Calhoun, South Carolina assumed the leadership in our section in the championship of the principles of State sovereignty and the formulation of the creed of the economic, social and political regionalism of Southern rights and institutions. Though Andrew Jackson and James K. Polk and other great Southerners as strong Nationalists placed Tennessee and other Southern States high in the council's leadership of the Nation, yet, through Robert Barnwell Rhett of Charleston, along with William L. Yancey of Alabama and Jefferson Davis of Mississippi, South Carolina took the leadership in the secession and confederation of the Southern States.

In the disunion and conflict which divided the North and the South and shattered for a time the Federal union, the greatness of the mind and the nobility of the character and spirit of Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. Lee rose above conflict and bitterness to become the spiritual resource of the reunion of the States. The Midwestern Lincoln, the emancipator of the Negro slaves, nobly magnamimous in victory, and the Virginian Lee, one of the greatest commanders of all time, teacher of youth and reconciliation, sublimely dutiful in defeat, transcended with their immortal spirit both victory and defeat in the reunion and freedom of the United States of America upon whose united strength in support of the United Nations against division and tyranny depends today the freedom and peace of the world. The example of Lincoln and Lee became an inspiration to the youth of America, North and South. The spirit of the New South was soon to be heard, first in the matchless calls of Hill and Grady of Georgia, a little later in the great educational crusade of Curry of Alabama and Aycock of North Carolina. To all four of these the guiding star of national reconciliation and Southern recovery was the nobility of the character, the teaching, and the example of Robert E. Lee.

In the era of the rise of the South from the devastation of the war and the tragedies of reconstruction, Georgia, through the valiant recovery of Atlanta and the eloquent appeals of Benjamin H. Hill and Henry Woodfin Grady, expressive of the heroic spirit of a stricken but dauntless people, became the empire State and the leader in the resurrection of the South.

In the years just before and after the turn of the century and since, North Carolina through her educational, industrial, agricultural and spiritual pioneers, then became the leader of the risen South. Aycock became the leader of North Carolina when he led the people up from ignorance, poverty, and racial strife through schoolhouse doors opened to all the children of the people. North Carolina became the leader of the new South when Charles B. Aycock became the leader of North Carolina. The man who in himself preserved the best traditions of a great State, provided the brave and kindly leadership for a turbulent, transitional and creative age, envisaged the whole commonwealth, all the people, all their industries and institutions, their fears and hopes, who understood and loved them all, beloved by them all, was Charles B. Aycock. Perhaps America's greatest educational governor!

II. The Heritage and Development of Charles Brantley Aycock.

Whence came this man? How did he get that way? In what soil did his rootage sustain the tall timber of his soul? We would know the stock of his heritage, robust in body, brilliant in mind, unyielding in moral power, patient and forward in his sympathies with the people in their common hopes for the equal chance of their children. Deep was his rootage in the soil of rural North Carolina. High was his faith in the people even when they reviled him. Reverent was his oneness with the moral sovereignty which undergirds the nature of man and the universe.

His heritage on both sides of the family was sturdy pioneer English stock, Baptist on his father's side and Quaker on his mother's side. The Baptist and Quaker strains were deep parts of his life and faith. Such God-fearing, self-reliant, farmer folk have long been the rugged democratic backbone of North Carolina. As pointed out by R. D. W. Connor and Clarence Poe in their authentic biography of Aycock, land grants were made to the Aycocks in Northampton County before the middle of the eighteenth century. Two of the East Carolina Aycocks were soldiers in the American Revolution. The first federal census lists the paternal and maternal ancestors, Aycocks and Hooks, as freeholders of Wayne County lands in 1790.

His father, Benjamin Aycock, was the Wayne County Clerk of the Court and State Legislator who staunchly supported the Confederacy in whose armies two of his sons were soldiers at the front. His mother, herself unlettered, especially inspired her youngest son with a love of learning and a championship of the equal chance for education which the State had denied to her. Charles was the youngest of her seven boys and perhaps North Carolina's most gifted son in a generation of men great in the rebuilding of the old commonwealth.

Charles B. Aycock was born near Nahunta in Wayne County, November 1, 1859, more than a year before began the war which shook a continent with its conflict of heroic peoples and its mighty social impacts whose aftermath of ruin and bitterness, struggles and hope, became the reference frame of young Aycock and his generation. This youngest son, with a high capacity for fine feeling, was plastic to the rugged molding of the privations and memories of war, the mistakes and bitterness of reconstruction, and the hopes for a better day. In the spirit of his great forerunner in the affections of the people, Zebulon B. Vance, he accepted with his characteristic goodwill the "duties of defeat", as enjoined and exemplified by Lee and Vance.

With the faults, frustrations, and hopes of a lively boyhood, young Aycock learned the lessons of a simple democracy in a farm family of ten children. In the give and take of such a family he grew to respect with kindness the rights, feelings and personalities of other people. He learned with sympathy the ways of dogs and horses. He tilled the soil and followed the plow. He hunted foxes, wrestled with other boys in the barnyard, tramped the fields and forests, had an ear for the songs of sweet-throated birds, and the melodies and cadenced grandeur of the poets. He learned from nature, from books, from people, and from the times. He learned from the household duties and simple piety of his mother who taught him a high reverence for women, for work, and sacred things.

When he and six brothers walked miles from the farm to a subscription school, it was borne upon him that there was no public school for them and countless thousands like them. His first school was in Nahunta, since named Fremont, where Aycocks still live to give historic association to the name and place. Then at the Wilson Collegiate Institute he sat at the feet of a remarkable teacher, the Elder Sylvester Hassell; "trapped" to the top of the class just ahead of young Josephus Daniels. There young Daniels, later at Chapel Hill and in printshops, got his preparation for his life as a tribune of the people, fighting editor in the cause of the people; as Secretary under Woodrow Wilson, builder of a powerful Navy; and as Ambassador to Mexico, the champion of inter-American good neighborhood. Charles B. Aycock and Josephus Daniels, schoolmates in Wilson, became comrades-in-arms in the later campaigns against special privilege, tariffs, and monopolies and together fought in the great crusades for the schools of the people. At Wilson, Aycock debated with other such schoolmates as Rudolph Duffy and Frank Daniels who became his life-long law partner and friend. In Kinston he was further prepared for the University by Joseph H. Foy, whose influence upon him was ever after one of the precious treasures of his life.

III. Influence of the University on Aycock.

In the fall of 1877, two years after the reopening of the University and a few months after the withdrawal of the Federal troops from the Southern States, Charles B. Aycock, fresh from the cotton fields of Wayne County, alighted from a hack in front of the old Watson Hotel in Chapel Hill, to enter the University of North Carolina. Handsome, well proportioned, studious and with self-reliant charm, he soon became a leader of a little band of remarkable students in the reopened University, which was to open their minds and kindle their hearts with the vision of rebuilding the life of a stricken but dauntless people.

One of these college mates of Aycock, Edwin A. Alderman, has said of the University of those days:

"There was no better place, I think, for the making of leaders in the world, than Chapel Hill in the late seventies. The note of life was simple, rugged, almost primitive. Our young hearts, aflame with the impulses of youth were quietly conscious of the viscissitudes and sufferings through which our fathers had just passed. 'The conquered banner' and the mournful threnodies of Father Ryan were yielding to songs of hope. A heroic tradition pervaded the place, while hope and struggle, rather than despair or repining, shone in the purpose of the resolute men who were rebuilding the famous old school."

Next to the Father of us all, mother of ten, and the two charming Woodard sisters of Wilson, North Carolina, who became the mothers of his eight children, Alma Mater and her sons were, by his own testament, deep and abiding influences in his life. Historic halls of the first State university buildings in America, with the hills and forests around, stirred his imagination with the traditions of the great past of the State and the hopes of the people for greater days to come. In these woods the veterans of the Revolution founded the university of the people. Here studied, played, and dreamed the youth who reached the highest offices and leadership of the State and nation. The little group of professors, wisely gathered by President Battle, carried on the high scholarly traditions of the university in which Charles Aycock, though weak in mathematics, soon excelled in the classics, political economy and philosophy. He became under their inspiration a master of ideas, words, and logic. He was a match for all contenders in the Phi Society. He early became a leader of the student body and especially of a company of gallant souls who were soon intent upon the educational business of transforming an old State into a new commonwealth.

Unprecedented in the history of the University before or since, in protest at what was considered faculty interference with their elections, the insurgent students elected Charles Aycock the Chief Marshal during his first year. This story is graphically told by Judge Robert W. Winston, his college mate, life-long friend and his partner in a great law firm, in his brilliant university day eulogy of Aycock. This turning to him by the students of the University for leadership in a muddled situation was prophetic of the call to him by the people of North Carolina for leadership in troublous times toward better days.

Along with James Y. Joyner and three score other students, Charles Aycock joined the Baptist Church at Chapel Hill under the influence of a young minister, A. C. Dixon, one of the legion of ministers, teachers, writers, governors, judges, legislators, and builders with whom Wake Forest College has blessed the North Carolina of Aycock's generation since.

Under the wise and kindly President Battle he doubled his courses to study law in his senior year. He also came under the influence of the spirit of a brave woman whose unresting pen in letters to her boys had spurred former governors and countless alumni and legislators to reopen the University. It was the valiant Cornelia Phillips Spencer, who in 1875 climbed to the belfry in the South Building in which Aycock was later to room and rang the college bell which had not rung in Chapel Hill for five years. The woman who rang the bell thus announced in spirit to the generation of Charles Aycock that the University was reopened and that the historic institutions of the people were on the march again.

IV. Cooperation of All Institutions.

The momentum of the traditions, services and hopes of almost a hundred years could not be ended by the turbulent times which had closed the University's doors. Noble colleges of the churches for men and for women, historic private academies, and a few public schools had kept the lamps of learning burning during those dark times.

May we, in the spirit of Aycock and in our gratitude, say for them all, both church-related and privately endowed institutions, all hail for their great role through the years and all success in the campaigns for building nobler mansions of the mind and soul of youth. It was for this that the University was reopened in 1875, consolidated in renewed and reinforcing strength with the Woman's College and the State College in 1931, both founded as products of the great democratic educational crusade. This University of Aycock, this University of the people is the cooperative partner of all the schools and colleges, public, denominational, and private, under the distinguished and devoted leadership of Gordon Gray in able cooperation with Controller W. D. Carmichael, Jr., and the Chancellors R. B. House, J. W. Harrelson, and E. K. Graham II, who has just succeeded the able and beloved Chancellor W. C. Jackson, teacher and biographer of the life and spirit of Aycock.

V. The Great Crusade.

In the year 1877, in which Charles Aycock entered the reopened University, there was a need for a democratic statewide system of public schools to undergird all our colleges, industries, institutions and enterprises of the common life and liberate great bodies of the people from poverty and privilege, prejudice and ignorance, into creative cooperation for a better life for all people.

With the coming to Chapel Hill in one student generation of Charles B. Aycock, Edwin A. Alderman, Charles D. McIver, James Y. Joyner, Locke Craig, M. C. S. Noble, W. J. Peele, Robert P. Pell, Francis D. Winston, Robert W. Winston, R. A. Doughton, James S. Manning, Robert Strange, Horace Williams, Frank Daniels, Charles R. Thomas, and other teachers, builders and dreamers, something deep and creative happened in the history of North Carolina.

The night on which some of these graduated, two of them, Edwin A. Alderman and Charles D. McIver, later founder of the Woman's College, in the presence of the heritage of Archibald Murphy and Calvin H. Wiley and in the presence of the challenge of much ignorance and poverty in the general life, talked far through the night. As one of them later said in recalling this night, it was "toward the morning by a light that was never seen on land or sea" they resolved to give their lives to educating the people to the need of education. It had become the stuff of their convictions, under God, that the public schools were the chief hope of a more creative and nobler commonwealth for which they had been preparing as they dreamed their dreams on the holy hill of their great dedication.

From the fires burning on that hill and in other schools and colleges of the State, the torches were lighted for the educational crusade which was to become the inspiring part of an industrial, agricultural and cultural renaissance. Through dynamic interconnection with movements in other States, this crusade was beginning to stir the hopes of the people for a better day for their children.

Goldsboro, where Charles B. Aycock had been teacher and county superintendent and was now, as the rising attorney in Eastern North Carolina, the chairman of the School Board, became the front and center of the educational revival. Edward P. Moses, the superintendent, was brilliantly aflame with the new evangelism and at the Chapel Hill Summer School for teachers communicated the flames lighted there and at Goldsboro to the people of the State. Within a brief period there had come to Goldsboro, E. P. Moses from Tennessee; Edwin Alderman, later Presidents of three universities, Joyner, the extraordinary organizer of the fruits of the Aycock campaigns and later President of the National Education Association, Julius Foust, later President of the Woman's College, and Thomas Foust, all from Chapel Hill; Eugene C. Brooks, later the dynamic

State Superintendent of public instruction and able President of State College, from Trinity College with its great traditions of Braxton Craven and his Normal College at Old Trinity; and leaders and teachers from Wake Forest College, Davidson College, Guilford College, and especially from the Woman's Colleges in this capital and other strategic towns, and all the other colleges of the State. The state superintendents, Scarborough, Finger, and Mebane were pointing the way.

Goldsboro under the chairmanship of Aycock, became one of the main proving grounds and the outpost, from which Aycock moved out to lead the bold and brilliant statewide movement of the people for the education by public taxation of all the children of all the people.

Against the possibility of the fires burning out with sporadic bursts of popular zeal, the urgent need was the championship of laymen, business men, farmers, politicians and parties. The popular crusade, bravely launched by wise and eloquent educators in the Southern States and aided by philanthropic funds in the North, needed the championship of a statesman who with clear analysis, homely illustration, simple logic, profound insight, and flaming zeal, could identify the values of the public schools with both the common work of the people's life and the noble vision of the people's hopes for the equal opportunity of all children, white and black, in the towns and on the farms. The need was for the commitment of a great leader and a great State to a great cause. The man, the place, the cause, and the opportunity came together in North Carolina in 1900 in Charles Brantley Aycock when he committed the people of North Carolina to public taxation for the education of all the children of all the people. The standard he carried through many campaigns and raised aloft at the turn of the century for the turning of this commonwealth has been carried forward by every governor of North Carolina from the peerless son of Wayne, Charles B. Aycock, to the fighting son of Alamance, W. Kerr Scott.

Near the turn of the century, three stubborn barriers stood across the way up which Aycock would lead the people into the promised land of education and cooperation. The first barrier, as a part of the aftermath of the war, emancipation and reconstruction, was interracial strife and fears attended by the economic and political exploitation of the Negro. The second barrier was the traditional aversion of the people to taxation and especially the taxation of people of property for the education of the children of poor white and Negroes, both of whom were considered shiftless and incapable of education. The third barrier was much public apathy and indifference to education based on too widespread illiteracy and poverty.

VI. The Threefold Aycock Program.

Charles B. Aycock declared war on ignorance, poverty, privileged education, and the political exploitation of the illiterate Negroes. He became the successful and popular leader of the movement which had three parts: First, the immediate disfranchisement of the illiterate Negroes; second, the disfranchisement of both illiterate whites and illiterate Negroes after 1908; and third, public taxation for the education of all children of both whites and Negroes as a basis for increasingly more equal opportunity of all people, white and black, to learn, to earn and to vote as the common rights of the citizens of the commonwealth.

It was the first part of his threefold program which won for him a large majority. The second and third parts were the objects of terrific assaults. The wide popularity which had come to him from the first part was dedicated to the fulfillment of the second and third parts of the program. The suggestion to falter and halt in the fulfillment of the whole program was considered by him to be suggestions for the breaking of pledges given by his party and himself, violations of his personal honor, a failure in more equal opportunity for the poorer whites, a monstrous injustice to the defenseless Negroes, and a prostitution of his party and his State.

He declared a new and indignant war on three such suggestions. He valiantly withstood the movement to postpone indefinitely the date of 1908 for the disfranchisement of the illiterate whites and was opposed to devices for the disfranchisement of literate Negroes after 1908. He met with hot scorn the suggestion to use the taxes paid each race for the education of the children of that race. He refused to consider the suggestion for common taxation for the existing school terms and separate taxation of the races for any addition to the school terms.

Once when some friends told him that the movement was gathering strength for the separation of the taxes for the respective apportionment to the schools of the races, he answered simply in case that were done he would resign his office as governor and retire to private life. He would thus have expressed his sense of personal dishonor and aroused the public indignation for the dishonor of the State whose people he respected and loved too much to betray for any office in their power to give.

Even his own county of Wayne joined many other counties in supporting separation of taxes. He was told not to speak his cause at the Democratic Convention in Greensboro in 1904 because the mass of people gathered there would howl him down. With the great friend of education, former Governor Thomas J. Jarvis, at his spiritual side, he made one of the great speeches of his life, unfaltering to the end in support of common taxation for the education of all children. The ovation given him that day was a landmark in the history of North Carolina and the South. On that day Aycock became the triumphant leader of North Carolina and North Carolina became the new leader of the South.

VII. Four Periods of Interracial Relations.

We see him historically now, more clearly in the context of better relations between the races in the South. The relations of the races in the South has four main periods. First was the period of the institution of slavery, inherited from the ancient and medieval world, quickly found unprofitable in the North, and found for a time to be profitable in the South with the illusion of privileges which enslaved the blacks and disinherited millions of whites. Slavery could not endure without a denial of the teachings of our religion, without the renunciation of our democracy, and without the erosion of the economic foundations of the freedom, dignity, and enterprise of the human spirit.

The second period was the period of Reconstruction based on the premature enfranchisement of the exploited freedmen and the disfranchisment of the conquered Confederate whites. This domination of the whites by the carpetbag regimes backd by federal bayonets engendered and contributed to much Southern fear, bitterness, and violence for a generation.

The third period was the period of intimidation of the blacks by the whites, the disfranchisement of the Negroes, and too much exploitation of the Negroes without the equal opportunity to learn the meaning of citizenship, to work with higher skills of hand and brain, and to vote as citizens of our State and Nation.

The fourth period evolved from the tragedies and lessons of slavery and war, the carpetbag-freedmen domination of the whites, and the white counter-intimidation and exploitation of the then illiterate blacks. This fourth period was the period not of domination and counter-intimidation but of education and cooperation. Booker T. Washington, who worked his way through Hampton Institute in Virginia and founded Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, preached the gospel of education, honest work and personal worthiness as the basis of the new orientation for human progress in the relation of the races. The eloquent statesmanship of Booker T. Washington, J. L. M. Curry, Edgar Gardner Murphy, all of Alabama, the Peabody Board, the Southern Education Board, the Southern Education Conference, the Slater Fund, other private benefactions, and the long gathering momentum of the crusades of Alderman and McIver and their valiant cohorts in North Carolina, all contributed to this period of education and cooperation.

The head and front of this fourth period was the political leader who risked his vast popularity, staked his personal honor, committed his party and his State and dedicated his vast powers of body, mind, and flaming spirit to the cause of common public taxation for the education of all children.

Aycock talked and preached education in every county in North Carolina and in States from Maine to Florida as a flaming evangel sent from God for the education and redemption of all the children of men. For every day of every year of his administration as governor, a new schoolhouse arose in North Carolina. The last word he said on this earth as he dropped dead in Birmingham speaking to the teachers of Alabama, was the word "education". The last sentence of the last message to the people in which he was to have announced his candidacy for the United States Senate, published after his death, were these words:

"Equal! That is the word! On that word I plant myself and my party —the equal right of every child born on earth to have the opportunity to burgeon out all that there is within him."

VIII. Present Opportunities of Peoples of Good Will of Both Races to Cooperate for Feasible Steps for Nobler Relations of the Races in America.

Toward the fulfillment of the hopes of Aycock, the American dream of the founders of the republic, and the teachings of our religion, the people of good will of both races in the North and the South need to get together for nobler relations of the races in America on some such feasible measures and ideas as the following:

1. In view of the origin, history, and power of the "mores" of peoples based on the universal consciousness of kind, an historic social heritage, the degree of the visibility of the difference between races, the largeness of the members of the groups involved and the economic competition of the low income groups, there is needed a new emphasis on the influence of religion, education, personal kindness, decent respect for the human dignity of persons, and voluntary cooperation of people of good will for better relations in the local communities, in the long haul of the generations for justice on this Earth. To our good Northern friends, I emphasize the unwisdom of using federal compulsion at educational levels beyond the levels of acceptance by the people in the States. Such unwise compulsions cause bitter setbacks, not enduring progress which mainly comes from within the minds and hearts of the majority of the people in the States.

2. Federal aid to education under State and local control for the more equal education of all the children in all the States.

3. Local-State-federal cooperation for the prevention of even one lynching by a mob in the South or a gang in the North.

4. Abolition of the poll tax. If Senators and Congressmen pledge their support of prompt ratification in their States, then the most expeditious and feasible way would be by constitutional amendment, originally sponsored in the Senate by the distinguished Governor and lately lamented Senator from North Carolina, J. M. Broughton.

5. Admission of Negroes at the graduate and professional level where equal facilities are not provided in State institutions in acceptance of the established principles and spirit of the decisions of the United States Supreme Court as the supreme law of the land in the States as well as in the nation. In case separate facilities are under State law, then provision for equal facilities in schools, libraries, extension services, roads, hospitals, sanitation, health, welfare, and equal justice under law. In cases where churches and private endowments have not provided equal facilities, the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary has already pointed the voluntary way for denominational and private professional and graduate schools.

6. The acceptance of the right of Negroes qualified by education to vote in primaries and general elections. The right to be taxed, to be drafted and to die for one's country carries the right to vote as a qualified citizen of our common country.

7. Voluntary cooperation of labor and management and of private and public facilities in the employment of workers, on the basis of competence, needed for maximum production and the national defense of the very human freedom and dignity now imperilled by denials of opportunity from within and by assaults of totalitarian tyranny from without.

8. Over all and under all, the dauntless recognition of the brotherhood of all men and the fatherhood of one God "who made of one blood all the nations of men for to dwell on the face of the earth."

By democratic logic, these are contemporary translations of the basic ideas and long range hopes of Thomas Jefferson and Charles B. Aycock.

IX. Aycock and Jefferson.

From the hills and shrine of Monticello near Charlottesville, in the spring of his dauntless hopes there came down into the valleys of men's struggles, a tall, red-haired, sunny-faced young man to take up his battles for human freedom, national independence, religious liberty, public education, equal opportunity, and the abolition of the slave trade as a step in the ultimate abolition of human slavery. The history of America, with all its faults and frustrations, is humanely different because of the life, sufferings and battles of Thomas Jefferson in the cause of human liberty and equal opportunity for all.

From a historic hill in the woods of North Carolina there returned to his people a tall, blue-eyed, sandy-haired, brilliant, and eloquent young man to take up his lifelong struggles for the freedom of the mind and the equality of opportunity through the schools of the people. The history of North Carolina, and the South, with all our faults and frustrations, is hopefully different because of the life, sufferings, and battles of Charles B. Aycock in the cause of the liberties of the people and the equal opportunities of their children.

CONCLUSION

The unveiling of this portrait is the symbol of the ever unfolding life of Charles B. Aycock in the life of this commonwealth of his struggles and his dreams. In this hour we are desperately reminded that his ideas and hopes for the freedom of the human mind, the dignity of the human being, and the equal opportunity and enterprise of the human spirit are imperilled by the most monstrous threats of totalitarian tyranny. May the commemoration of the life and character of Charles Brantley Aycock mean the rededication of all to the ideas and struggles, carried forward by the United States of America, as the leader, under God, of the free peoples of the earth, in a stronger United Nations, as the best hope of human freedom, equal opportunity, and peace in the world.
